POWs MISLED BY REDS REACH U. S.

Top Legislators Still Have Hopes For Tax Slashes

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Congressional leaders expressed hope today that deeper spending cuts by the Eisenhower administration may yet lead to a balanced federal budget and fresh tax reductions this year.

An atmosphere of cautious optimism developed on both sides of Capitol Hill during the day after an initial wave of pessimism over President Eisenhower's news conference statement yesterday that his administration sees no way to balance the budget for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Senate and House leaders suggested the administration may find ways to slash more off the appropriations budget than the 8½ billion dollar reduction announced by Eisenhower.

There was talk, too, that Congress would give a hard second look at the administration's own pared-down spending estimates.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) of the Senate Armed Service Committee told newsmen that the 8½ billion total cutback Eisenhower mentioned represented only "preliminary figures," and he declared:

"I hope before final figures are presented there will be further downward revisions in appropriations requests."

Senate Republican Leader Taft of Ohio emphasized that Eisenhower's figures were "very indefinite" because, he said, administration officials are "finding something new every day and cutting spending all the time."

Along with Eisenhower's announcement that he will ask Congress for 8½ billion less than the $72,900,000,000 requested by former President Truman in new appropriations for fiscal 1954, the President threw in a blast at what he called the Truman "crazy quilt" blueprint for defense spending.

Eisenhower indicated he expects day-by-day economies to be a continuing process.

Screaming, Red POWs Stage Wild Demonstration

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, May 2 (AP)—A screaming, clothes-ripping band of disabled North Korean captives staged a wild demonstration here today as they were being released to the Communists. An Allied officer said the U. N. Command would protest formally to the Reds.

"They almost got out of hand," Lt. Col. Leo J. Dulacki said.

Dulacki, one of the officers supervising the exchange, said prisoners in four ambulances jumped out before their names were called.

Allies Growing More Suspicious Of Red Objective At Truce Table

NEW REA CHIEF — Archer Nelson takes up his duties in Washington as new Rural Electrification Administrator. The former lieutenant governor of Minnesota was sworn in by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson.

Ex-High Officials Won't Say If They Spied For Russia

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Two men who held a succession of high federal posts refused today to say whether they belonged to a Soviet spy ring during World War II or whether they are engaged in espionage now.

They told the Senate's internal security subcommittee that any answers might tend to incriminate them.

Witness No. 1 was Edward J. Fitzgerald, a slight man with close-cropped hair, who left an $8,000 a year Commerce Department job in 1947 after a New York federal grand jury began to investigate his activities. He said he is now a freelance writer and book reviewer in New York.

Witness No. 2 was fat, pipe-puffing Harry Magdoff of New York, who refused to say why he gave up his $10,000 a year post as a Commerce Department economist in 1946.

Magdoff testified he had been an adviser to Henry A. Wallace when Wallace was secretary of commerce. Fitzgerald said he also conferred with Wallace frequently in connection with his government duties.

In 1948 Wallace ran for president on the Progressive party ticket.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) told reporters the testimony of Fitzgerald, Magdoff and others has enabled the subcommittee to put a finger on a small group of alleged Red sympathizers who steadily advanced to "positions of greater importance, nearer the top policy people" in the government.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Harold Stassen, the mutual security director, will visit the Middle East, India and Pakistan this month. Stops also will be made in Greece and Turkey.

U. N. Charges Foe Welches On Swap

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, May 2 (AP)—The Communists today discussed four Asian nations in the revived armistice talks but refused to nominate any as a neutral. The Reds said that among the Asian nations they would consider neutral were India, Pakistan, Burma, and Indonesia.

The Reds said they would not nominate any of the four as a neutral to handle war prisoners who refuse repatriation until the Allies agree first to send those prisoners to such a neutral state.

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Saturday, May 2 (AP)—The U. N. Command today was growing more and more suspicious of Red objectives at the Panmunjom truce table as the reborn talks rounded out a week of futility.

The long-recessed discussions got going last Sunday after seeming Communist peace overtures from Moscow and Peiping but so far the overtures have failed to bear fruit.

At Friday's 35-minute session, the Allied truce team emphasized that nothing more could be accomplished until the Reds named their choice of a neutral nation to handle prisoners unwilling to return to Communist rule.

The Allies then suggested Sweden. The Communists, who say they prefer an Asian nation, made no reply.

Earlier at a meeting of liaison officers, the Allies bluntly accused the Reds of welching on their solemn agreement to swap all sick and wounded prisoners.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel said he had "indisputable evidence" that the Reds still hold 375 disabled Allied prisoners, despite their assurance that the 684 already returned cleans the slate.

Daniel said his information came from the lips of Allied captives turned loose at Panmunjom last week and failure to return the prisoners left "no choice but to question your sincerity" at the armistice talks.

Americans probably make up most of these 375. The Allies said there were 141 Koreans and 234 non-Koreans. There were 149 Americans among the 684 returned last week.

The trade now is a one-way affair. The U.N. was turning over probably its last batch of 500 ailing Red captives today, running the total to nearly 7,000.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, the Red liaison chief, pushed aside Daniels' demand for 375 more ailing Allied POWs, saying the admiral's claim was "a wilful slander."

He said the Reds do hold an undisclosed number of Allied sick and wounded but these are "not fit to travel because of their physical condition."

Cooler Than Usual May Anticipated

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Most of the country may have a somewhat cooler May than usual.

The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for May calls for:

"Temperatures to average below seasonal normals over most of the nation except in states along the West Coast and Gulf of Mexico where near to slightly above normal over most of the area from the Great Divide to the Appalachians while amounts not far from seasonal normals are indicated elsewhere."

Juggling Books Puts Blonde With Rich Tastes In Prison

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—Mrs. Naomi Hartman Ringrose, a $200-a-month bookkeeper with a taste for $400 suits and $96 hats, was sentenced to five years in prison today.

The 45-year-old blonde pleaded guilty to short circuiting the oookkeeping machine at a credit union operated here for employes of the Social Security Administration.

The government said her accounts show $340,000 to $380,000 short since she stumbled onto the technique in 1945. Mrs. Ringrose admitted juggling the books but denied the government's deficit figure. She did plead guilty to embezzling $35,704 in the past year.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut gave her the maximum prison sentence on the embezzlement charge and added the maximum $5,000 fine.

"A machine age failure," he said.

John T. P. Davis, a federal credit union examiner, said he and his men had objected to the bookkeeper's system but she "had more influence than the examiners."

The credit union already has seized her $80,000 home in the plush residential section on North Charles Street above Johns Hopkins University. It has taken her Cadillac (she couldn't drive), an impressive collection of jewelry and the $2,000 mink cape she bought "when minks were low."

Mrs. Ringrose said she hadn't an asset left from the fancy dining room, the beauty parlor and the insurance agency she operated on the side.

She worked only 30 hours a week at the credit union. She has been taking piano and singing lessons and attending art classes.

Disaster Declared Damage Figured At 12 Million Dollars

WARNER ROBINS, Ga., May 1 (AP)—This Air Force base boom town staggered today under tornado devastation that included 18 dead and 12 million dollar damage, mostly to government property.

Between 250 and 300 others were injured. And many more escaped death or injury by minutes when the black, funnel-shaped storm struck at twilight yesterday.

To help the 10-year-old town of 9,000 alongside the big Robins Air Force Base get back on its feet, the whole region quickly was declared a disaster area. This means easy long-term rehabilitation loans will be available from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The demolishing fury of the wind hit at 5:15 p.m. Minutes earlier a host of some 14,500 civilian employes would have been in the nearly 20 buildings blasted down at the base. The death toll might have been catastrophic.

Lt. Gen. Edwin W. Rawlings of the Air Materiel Command put the government property loss at 10 million dollars. Damage to city and private property was calculated at another 2 million.

Many of the homeless found shelter with relatives and friends but the Red Cross reported it cared for 750 last night in its shelters.

Apparently the 3,000 airmen and officers at the Air Force base escaped serious injury. However, the wife of Col. Joe Loftus of the Fourteenth Air Force perished when the angry wind snatched up and hurled down her auto. Her three small children riding with her escaped with minor hurts.

The storm raked a path 1,000 feet wide and a mile long through the town. Its approach was a terrifying spectacle. Reuben W. Lindsey, school principal, saw it coming two blocks away, collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Red Units Near Laotian Capital

HANOI, Indochina, May 1 (AP)—The French command sent patrols into the mountains surrounding the royal Laotian capital of Luangprabang today in search of advance units of invading Vietminh rebels.

Spearheads of the Communist-led foe were slowly closing in on the royal residence town where French and Laotian troops are digging in for an all-out defense. From four to five divisions have invaded Laos.

The French believe some of the Vietminh scouts may already have reached the mountains overlooking the lush, palm-lined Mekong River Valley where King Sisavang Vong has his residence among some 6,000 inhabitants.

The people of the town have pitched in to help dig trenches, string barbed wire and build fortifications against the expected assault.

Released Americans On Way To Moscow

MOSCOW, May 1 (AP)—The U. S. Embassy made plans today to welcome seven American civilians liberated by the North Koreans and now en route to Moscow.

The seven, released through Russian intervention, are bound for the Soviet capital aboard the Trans-Siberian Express. They are expected to arrive here in about 10 days.

The embassy said it has asked permission to fly the group out of Moscow by special plane.

The French Embassy said 14 French civilians who arrived here yesterday after being freed by the North Koreans through Soviet intercession, probably will leave for home tomorrow.

Was He Surprised!

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 1 (AP)—Sirens screamed and traffic stopped.

A Press-Scimitar reporter called the fire department.

"Where's the fire?" he asked.

"Your own building's on fire," the dispatcher replied.

Young Wife's Prayers Answered

A candle light which had been continuously flickering before an image of Our Lady of the Lake since his capture last October in Korea was blown out at San Antonio, Tex., yesterday by Marine Cpl. Eddie Vidal, 22, on his first day home. His pretty wife, Mona, 18, kneels by his side, her prayers answered—that he was again home with her and their two young children.

Bulganin Urges West To Back Up Words Of Peace

MOSCOW, May 1 (AP)—Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin called on Western nations in a May Day address today for deeds to back their words of peace, implying that the deeds should include an arms cut and abandonment of military bases near the Soviet Union.

The Soviet defense minister told massed thousands in Red Square that Russia wants peace, but—until other governments take steps toward a genuine easing of international tension—"our government will continue to show due care for insuring the defense and security of our country" and build up its armed strength.

"We must remain vigilant," he said.

The reviewing officer of military and civilian parades greatly reduced in size from the hours-long spectacles of the past, Bulganin wore a blue-green dress uniform with gold braid and jeweled medals for his keynote speech from the marble tomb of Lenin and Stalin.

Premier Georgi Malenkov and other members of the Presidium of the Communist party's Central Committee were on hand. So were foreign diplomats, including the ambassadors of the Western Big Three—Charles E. Bohlen of the United States, Sir Alvary Gascoigne of Britain and Louis Joxe of France.

Heralded to the microphones by a tremendous blast from 150 buglers, the marshal reiterated recent declarations of the Malenkov regime that, "given good will and a sensible approach, all international problems can be solved by peaceful means."

But he added that building of Soviet defenses will continue, "since so far there are no signs of a reduction by them in the armaments race or of closing down of the wide network of military bases spreading over the territories of many countries of Europe and Asia, in particular over territories bordering on the Soviet Union."

Peron Assails U. S. As Bombs Explode

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 1 (AP)—Addressing Congress on a May Day opened with a series of bomb explosions, President Juan D. Peron charged today that imperialist forces abroad were trying to weaken his government and block South American unity.

He denounced the United States by implication—and former U. S. Ambassador Spruille Braden, the Christian Science Monitor of Boston and three American news agencies by name—in a speech of two hours, 10 minutes on the political state of the nation.

Six bombs had been fired—mostly harmlessly in open spaces—before Peron made his 2½-mile ride to the Capitol along a route lined by policemen at 10-yard intervals.

The seventh, apparently buried in a sandpile at a building under construction less than a block from the capital, went off while he was speaking. It did some damage and rattled windows for several miles.

Two Churches Are Filled For Funeral

PRINCETON, Ia., May 1 (AP)—Two churches, one Catholic, the other Lutheran, were pressed into use yesterday during the funeral services for the late James Michael Hirl, 57, postmaster here.

An overflow congregation of more than 500 persons attended the services and when St. James Catholic Church was unable to house them all, trustees of Zion Lutheran, across the street from St. James, offered their sanctuary.

Both churches were filled to capacity. A public address system carried the rites from the Catholic service to those gathered in the Lutheran church.

GOP Chief Trims Party's Budget

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Chairman Leonard W. Hall shook up Republican national headquarters today and said that when the smoke settles he expects a third of the staff to be gone, at a saving of around $100,000 a year.

Hall announced two appointments to a new GOP high command:

A. D. Baumhart Jr. of Vermilion, Ohio, to be executive director and chairman of a Special Activities Committee, and Robert Humphreys of Washington to be publicity director.

The economy-efficiency shakeup was a prelude to what Hall told a news conference will be an immediate start on the 1954 political campaign, in which all House seats and a third of those in the Senate are at stake. Hall said he will announce some definite campaign projects in the next three or four weeks.

The new national chairman has been on the job only three weeks. A former New York congressman, he gave up a Surrogate Court judgeship to take the GOP helm when J. Wesley Roberts of Kansas resigned.

Godfrey Hit With Thousands At Blossom Festival Climax

WINCHESTER, Va., May 1 (AP)—Good Queen Kathryn stepped aside today and let one of her court favorites, a funny guy named Arthur Godfrey, regale the thousands who thronged old Winchester for the climax to the 26th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

And Godfrey didn't betray Her Majesty's assignment, either, as he rode triumphantly through apple realm spreading joy and cheer to gaping street-side crowds lined up 10 deep.

It was the grand finale to the three-day reign of Queen Shenandoah XXVI, otherwise Kathryn Eisenhower, good-looking 19-year-old niece of President Eisenhower.

An estimated 150,000 persons squeezed into this 201-year old town for the wrapup program, highlighted by the annual festival pageant, the 162-unit parade and a round of dances tonight.

The parade, with its long assemblage of dignitaries, bands, drum and bugle corps, drill teams and floats, lasted three hours. But the folks who stood and looked on in the bright 80-degree sunshine didn't mind in the least, because, as Godfrey put it:

"I've never seen so many pretty girls in my life."

When the Queen's white-tinseled float passed by the reviewing stand, the red-haired radio and television star waved and clapped, then turned around and said:

"She's a good egg, you know it. And a darn cute girl, too. She also comes from a mighty fine family."

Before the parade, some 15,000 crammed onto the lawn of Handley High School to witness the festival pageant, a story of the coming of springtime.

Afterward, Hopalong Cassidy rode out to greet the crowd atop his white mount, Topper. Eight-year-old Beverly Simpson walked up and handed Hoppy—in real life, William Boyd—a scroll from the Winchester Cassidy Kiddy Club.

"You know," said Cassidy, "I never get to kiss the girls in my movies, but this is one time I'm going to break the rules and regulations." And, while little Beverly blushed from cheek to cheek, Hoppy gave her a big kiss.

Sabres In Role Of Dive Bombers Raid Pyongyang

SEOUL, Saturday, May 2 (AP)—Fifty U. S. Sabres in their deadly new role of dive bombers hurled destruction Friday on the North Korean capital at Pyongyang.

While the 50 attacked the radio station and a military headquarters building on the outskirts, other Sabres flew high overhead on the lookout for any Red MIG jets that might try to interfere. None did.

The Pyongyang radio went off the air briefly, but it was not known whether this was a result of the raid. In any case, the Pyongyang radio was still in business after the raid ended.

The Fifth Air Force did not say what damage was wrought by the lightning raid. It reported that 24 tons of high explosives plummeted on the military headquarters area.

The Air Force said Sabres would take over more of the dive bombing burden, announcing that the F80 Shooting Star, the first jet used in the Korean war, was being retired from combat.

The 8th Wing, which formerly flew Shooting Stars, now is equipped with Sabres. The Sabre throughout the war has been used almost exclusively as a killer of the swift MIGs.

F84 Thunderjets hit a Red air strip at Yonan, on the Western Front Friday in a week-long effort to keep knocked out bases which the Reds are trying to rebuild.

On the ground, infantrymen on both sides stuck close to their lines as the armistice talks dragged on at Panmunjom.

Gross Ends Career

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 1 (AP)—Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, former acting head of the United States mission to the U. N. and a veteran delegate, officially ended his career with the mission today. He was guest at a farewell luncheon given by old friends. Gross plans to practice law in New York after a vacation.

Plane Lands In California Amid Secrecy

Number Or Names Of Enemy Propaganda Victims Not Revealed

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., May 1 (AP)—A planeload of repatriated American prisoners of war from Korea, designated by the Air Force as "victims of Communist propaganda," arrived here today under a cloak of military secrecy.

The Air Force did not announce the arrival and it didn't become known until one of the POWs, Cpl. Paul Schnur Jr. of San Francisco, was taken to Letterman Hospital in that city 40 miles southwest of here.

Then, the Travis public information officer, Maj. Thomas Barbour, said he had been given permission to disclose simply that a plane had arrived. The number of men aboard was not disclosed.

Pentagon Orders Secrecy

The cloak of secrecy was clamped down Thursday when the plane left Tokyo. The Air Force said it was ordered by the Pentagon and issued this statement:

"We are co-operating with the other military services in maintaining security over this particular operation, because of the position taken by the Army and others that these men may have been misled under conditions of duress and hardship during the period of their captivity."

"It is our position they are victims of Communist propaganda."

Earlier in the week the Defense Department said "a small group of soldiers who have shown symptoms of having succumbed to Communist indoctrinations" while captives of the Reds, are being flown to Valley Forge, Pa., Army Hospital, for mental as well as medical treatment.

The announcement did not specify those to be sent to Valley Forge.

The Defense Department noted that the soldiers "had suffered many privations and great danger while under Communist control and consequently, might have been more susceptible to Communist influence than they would have been under any other circumstances."

Army Feels "Obligated"

"The Army feels it is obligated to these men and to their families, and that they are entitled to medical and psychical treatment for their rehabilitation."

An Air Force spokesman said it was this regard for the welfare of the returning prisoners that prompted the order classifying the movement of the repatriates as secret for "compassionate" reasons.

In its earlier announcement, the Defense Department said "all these soldiers who were subjected to intensive Communist indoctrination require special consideration as well as medical treatment in their preparation for return to society."

The department said the families of the men would be encouraged to visit them. The families will be notified by telegram of the men's arrival at Valley Forge. Interviews will be permitted later, it was announced, if the men are willing and doctors approve.

Airman Reports Unrest In Poland

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Polish Air Force pilot Francis Jarewski, who turned over a Russian MIG15 to Danish authorities two months ago, said today there is "great discontent" in the Polish Army.

Through an interpreter, the 21-year-old flyer said there is considerable unrest in the Army and among the people of Poland but a rigid spy system makes an uprising unlikely.

While waiting for a plane to Chicago, he told interviewers at Idlewild Airport:

"There are many spies in Poland. There is great discontent, but there are Soviet agents and the Poles are under regulation."

Jarewski said he delivered the latest type MIG15 to Denmark without thought of reward.

Jarewski came to the U. S. at the invitation of the Polish-American Congress and the Polish National Alliance to take part in the Polish constitution holiday in Chicago on Sunday.

The plane Jarewski landed on the Danish island of Bornholm was one of only 14 new MIGs recently delivered to Poland, Jarewski said. Under ideal conditions this plane should travel 1,200 kilometers per hour—roughly 750 miles per hour, he figured.

He said the Reds do hold an undisclosed number of Allied sick and wounded but these are "not fit to travel because of their physical condition."

Cooler Than Usual May Anticipated

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Most of the country may have a somewhat cooler May than usual.

The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for May calls for:

"Temperatures to average below seasonal normals over most of the nation except in states along the West Coast and Gulf of Mexico where near to slightly above normal over most of the area from the Great Divide to the Appalachians while amounts not far from seasonal normals are indicated elsewhere."

Juggling Books Puts Blonde With Rich Tastes In Prison

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—Mrs. Naomi Hartman Ringrose, a $200-a-month bookkeeper with a taste for $400 suits and $96 hats, was sentenced to five years in prison today.

The 45-year-old blonde pleaded guilty to short circuiting the bookkeeping machine at a credit union operated here for employes of the Social Security Administration.

The government said her accounts show $340,000 to $380,000 short since she stumbled onto the technique in 1945. Mrs. Ringrose admitted juggling the books but denied the government's deficit figure. She did plead guilty to embezzling $35,704 in the past year.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut gave her the maximum prison sentence on the embezzlement charge and added the maximum $5,000 fine.

"A machine age failure," he said.

John T. P. Davis, a federal credit union examiner, said he and his men had objected to the bookkeeper's system but she "had more influence than the examiners."

The credit union already has seized her $80,000 home in the plush residential section on North Charles Street above Johns Hopkins University. It has taken her Cadillac (she couldn't drive), an impressive collection of jewelry and the $2,000 mink cape she bought "when minks were low."

Mrs. Ringrose said she hadn't an asset left from the fancy dining room, the beauty parlor and the insurance agency she operated on the side.

She worked only 30 hours a week at the credit union. She has been taking piano and singing lessons and attending art classes.

Disaster Declared Damage Figured At 12 Million Dollars

WARNER ROBINS, Ga., May 1 (AP)—This Air Force base boom town staggered today under tornado devastation that included 18 dead and 12 million dollar damage, mostly to government property.

Between 250 and 300 others were injured. And many more escaped death or injury by minutes when the black, funnel-shaped storm struck at twilight yesterday.

To help the 10-year-old town of 9,000 alongside the big Robins Air Force Base get back on its feet, the whole region quickly was declared a disaster area. This means easy long-term rehabilitation loans will be available from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The demolishing fury of the wind hit at 5:15 p.m. Minutes earlier a host of some 14,500 civilian employes would have been in the nearly 20 buildings blasted down at the base. The death toll might have been catastrophic.

Lt. Gen. Edwin W. Rawlings of the Air Materiel Command put the government property loss at 10 million dollars. Damage to city and private property was calculated at another 2 million.

Many of the homeless found shelter with relatives and friends but the Red Cross reported it cared for 750 last night in its shelters.

Apparently the 3,000 airmen and officers at the Air Force base escaped serious injury. However, the wife of Col. Joe Loftus of the Fourteenth Air Force perished when the angry wind snatched up and hurled down her auto. Her three small children riding with her escaped with minor hurts.

The storm raked a path 1,000 feet wide and a mile long through the town. Its approach was a terrifying spectacle. Reuben W. Lindsey, school principal, saw it coming two blocks away, collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Red Units Near Laotian Capital

HANOI, Indochina, May 1 (AP)—The French command sent patrols into the mountains surrounding the royal Laotian capital of Luangprabang today in search of advance units of invading Vietminh rebels.

Spearheads of the Communist-led foe were slowly closing in on the royal residence town where French and Laotian troops are digging in for an all-out defense. From four to five divisions have invaded Laos.

The French believe some of the Vietminh scouts may already have reached the mountains overlooking the lush, palm-lined Mekong River Valley where King Sisavang Vong has his residence among some 6,000 inhabitants.

The people of the town have pitched in to help dig trenches, string barbed wire and build fortifications against the expected assault.

Released Americans On Way To Moscow

MOSCOW, May 1 (AP)—The U. S. Embassy made plans today to welcome seven American civilians liberated by the North Koreans and now en route to Moscow.

The seven, released through Russian intervention, are bound for the Soviet capital aboard the Trans-Siberian Express. They are expected to arrive here in about 10 days.

The embassy said it has asked permission to fly the group out of Moscow by special plane.

The French Embassy said 14 French civilians who arrived here yesterday after being freed by the North Koreans through Soviet intercession, probably will leave for home tomorrow.

Was He Surprised!

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 1 (AP)—Sirens screamed and traffic stopped.

A Press-Scimitar reporter called the fire department.

"Where's the fire?" he asked.

"Your own building's on fire," the dispatcher replied.

Young Wife's Prayers Answered

A candle light which had been continuously flickering before an image of Our Lady of the Lake since his capture last October in Korea was blown out at San Antonio, Tex., yesterday by Marine Cpl. Eddie Vidal, 22, on his first day home. His pretty wife, Mona, 18, kneels by his side, her prayers answered—that he was again home with her and their two young children.

Bulganin Urges West To Back Up Words Of Peace

MOSCOW, May 1 (AP)—Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin called on Western nations in a May Day address today for deeds to back their words of peace, implying that the deeds should include an arms cut and abandonment of military bases near the Soviet Union.

The Soviet defense minister told massed thousands in Red Square that Russia wants peace, but—until other governments take steps toward a genuine easing of international tension—"our government will continue to show due care for insuring the defense and security of our country" and build up its armed strength.

"We must remain vigilant," he said.

The reviewing officer of military and civilian parades greatly reduced in size from the hours-long spectacles of the past, Bulganin wore a blue-green dress uniform with gold braid and jeweled medals for his keynote speech from the marble tomb of Lenin and Stalin.

Premier Georgi Malenkov and other members of the Presidium of the Communist party's Central Committee were on hand. So were foreign diplomats, including the ambassadors of the Western Big Three—Charles E. Bohlen of the United States, Sir Alvary Gascoigne of Britain and Louis Joxe of France.

Heralded to the microphones by a tremendous blast from 150 buglers, the marshal reiterated recent declarations of the Malenkov regime that, "given good will and a sensible approach, all international problems can be solved by peaceful means."

But he added that building of Soviet defenses will continue, "since so far there are no signs of a reduction by them in the armaments race or of closing down of the wide network of military bases spreading over the territories of many countries of Europe and Asia, in particular over territories bordering on the Soviet Union."

Peron Assails U. S. As Bombs Explode

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 1 (AP)—Addressing Congress on a May Day opened with a series of bomb explosions, President Juan D. Peron charged today that imperialist forces abroad were trying to weaken his government and block South American unity.

He denounced the United States by implication—and former U. S. Ambassador Spruille Braden, the Christian Science Monitor of Boston and three American news agencies by name—in a speech of two hours, 10 minutes on the political state of the nation.

Six bombs had been fired—mostly harmlessly in open spaces—before Peron made his 2½-mile ride to the Capitol along a route lined by policemen at 10-yard intervals.

The seventh, apparently buried in a sandpile at a building under construction less than a block from the capital, went off while he was speaking. It did some damage and rattled windows for several miles.

Two Churches Are Filled For Funeral

PRINCETON, Ia., May 1 (AP)—Two churches, one Catholic, the other Lutheran, were pressed into use yesterday during the funeral services for the late James Michael Hirl, 57, postmaster here.

An overflow congregation of more than 500 persons attended the services and when St. James Catholic Church was unable to house them all, trustees of Zion Lutheran, across the street from St. James, offered their sanctuary.

Both churches were filled to capacity. A public address system carried the rites from the Catholic service to those gathered in the Lutheran church.

GOP Chief Trims Party's Budget

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Chairman Leonard W. Hall shook up Republican national headquarters today and said that when the smoke settles he expects a third of the staff to be gone, at a saving of around $100,000 a year.

Hall announced two appointments to a new GOP high command:

A. D. Baumhart Jr. of Vermilion, Ohio, to be executive director and chairman of a Special Activities Committee, and Robert Humphreys of Washington to be publicity director.

The economy-efficiency shakeup was a prelude to what Hall told a news conference will be an immediate start on the 1954 political campaign, in which all House seats and a third of those in the Senate are at stake. Hall said he will announce some definite campaign projects in the next three or four weeks.

The new national chairman has been on the job only three weeks. A former New York congressman, he gave up a Surragate Court judgeship to take the GOP helm when J. Wesley Roberts of Kansas resigned.

Sabres In Role Of Dive Bombers Raid Pyongyang

SEOUL, Saturday, May 2 (AP)—Fifty U. S. Sabres in their deadly new role of dive bombers hurled destruction Friday on the North Korean capital at Pyongyang.

While the 50 attacked the radio station and a military headquarters building on the outskirts, other Sabres flew high overhead on the lookout for any Red MIG jets that might try to interfere. None did.

The Pyongyang radio went off the air briefly, but it was not known whether this was a result of the raid. In any case, the Pyongyang radio was still in business after the raid ended.

The Fifth Air Force did not say what damage was wrought by the lightning raid. It reported that 24 tons of high explosives plummeted on the military headquarters area.

The Air Force said Sabres would take over more of the dive bombing burden, announcing that the F80 Shooting Star, the first jet used in the Korean war, was being retired from combat.

The 8th Wing, which formerly flew Shooting Stars, now is equipped with Sabres. The Sabre throughout the war has been used almost exclusively as a killer of the swift MIGs.

F84 Thunderjets hit a Red air strip at Yonan, on the Western Front Friday in a week-long effort to keep knocked out bases which the Reds are trying to rebuild.

On the ground, infantrymen on both sides stuck close to their lines as the armistice talks dragged on at Panmunjom.

Gross Ends Career

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 1 (AP)—Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, former acting head of the United States mission to the U. N. and a veteran delegate, officially ended his career with the mission today. He was guest at a farewell luncheon given by old friends. Gross plans to practice law in New York after a vacation.

WINCHESTER, Va., May 1 (AP)—Good Queen Kathryn stepped aside today and let one of her court favorites, a funny guy named Arthur Godfrey, regale the thousands who thronged old Winchester for the climax to the 26th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

And Godfrey didn't betray Her Majesty's assignment, either, as he rode triumphantly through apple realm spreading joy and cheer to gaping street-side crowds lined up 10 deep.

It was the grand finale to the three-day reign of Queen Shenandoah XXVI, otherwise Kathryn Eisenhower, good-looking 19-year-old niece of President Eisenhower.

An estimated 150,000 persons squeezed into this 201-year old town for the wrapup program, highlighted by the annual festival pageant, the 162-unit parade and a round of dances tonight.

The parade, with its long assemblage of dignitaries, bands, drum and bugle corps, drill teams and floats, lasted three hours. But the folks who stood and looked on in the bright 80-degree sunshine didn't mind in the least, because, as Godfrey put it:

"I've never seen so many pretty girls in my life."

When the Queen's white-tinseled float passed by the reviewing stand, the red-haired radio and television star waved and clapped, then turned around and said:

"She's a good egg, you know it. And a darn cute girl, too. She also comes from a mighty fine family."

Before the parade, some 15,000 crammed onto the lawn of Handley High School to witness the festival pageant, a story of the coming of springtime.

Afterward, Hopalong Cassidy rode out to greet the crowd atop his white mount, Topper. Eight-year-old Beverly Simpson walked up and handed Hoppy—in real life, William Boyd—a scroll from the Winchester Cassidy Kiddy Club.

"You know," said Cassidy, "I never get to kiss the girls in my movies, but this is one time I'm going to break the rules and regulations." And, while little Beverly blushed from cheek to cheek, Hoppy gave her a big kiss.

Plane Lands In California Amid Secrecy

Number Or Names Of Enemy Propaganda Victims Not Revealed

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., May 1 (AP)—A planeload of repatriated American prisoners of war from Korea, designated by the Air Force as "victims of Communist propaganda," arrived here today under a cloak of military secrecy.

The Air Force did not announce the arrival and it didn't become known until one of the POWs, Cpl. Paul Schnur Jr. of San Francisco, was taken to Letterman Hospital in that city 40 miles southwest of here.

Then, the Travis public information officer, Maj. Thomas Barbour, said he had been given permission to disclose simply that a plane had arrived. The number of men aboard was not disclosed.

Pentagon Orders Secrecy

The cloak of secrecy was clamped down Thursday when the plane left Tokyo. The Air Force said it was ordered by the Pentagon and issued this statement:

"We are co-operating with the other military services in maintaining security over this particular operation, because of the position taken by the Army and others that these men may have been misled under conditions of duress and hardship during the period of their captivity."

"It is our position they are victims of Communist propaganda."

Earlier in the week the Defense Department said "a small group of soldiers who have shown symptoms of having succumbed to Communist indoctrinations" while captives of the Reds, are being flown to Valley Forge, Pa., Army Hospital, for mental as well as medical treatment.

The announcement did not specify those to be sent to Valley Forge.

The Defense Department noted that the soldiers "had suffered many privations and great danger while under Communist control and consequently, might have been more susceptible to Communist influence than they would have been under any other circumstances."

Army Feels "Obligated"

"The Army feels it is obligated to these men and to their families, and that they are entitled to medical and psychical treatment for their rehabilitation."

An Air Force spokesman said it was this regard for the welfare of the returning prisoners that prompted the order classifying the movement of the repatriates as secret for "compassionate" reasons.

In its earlier announcement, the Defense Department said "all these soldiers who were subjected to intensive Communist indoctrination require special consideration as well as medical treatment in their preparation for return to society."

The department said the families of the men would be encouraged to visit them. The families will be notified by telegram of the men's arrival at Valley Forge. Interviews will be permitted later, it was announced, if the men are willing and doctors approve.

Airman Reports Unrest In Poland

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Polish Air Force pilot Francis Jarewski, who turned over a Russian MIG15 to Danish authorities two months ago, said today there is "great discontent" in the Polish Army.

Through an interpreter, the 21-year-old flyer said there is considerable unrest in the Army and among the people of Poland but a rigid spy system makes an uprising unlikely.

While waiting for a plane to Chicago, he told interviewers at Idlewild Airport:

"There are many spies in Poland. There is great discontent, but there are Soviet agents and the Poles are under regulation."

Jarewski said he delivered the latest type MIG15 to Denmark without thought of reward.

Jarewski came to the U. S. at the invitation of the Polish-American Congress and the Polish National Alliance to take part in the Polish constitution holiday in Chicago on Sunday.

The plane Jarewski landed on the Danish island of Bornholm was one of only 14 new MIGs recently delivered to Poland, Jarewski said. Under ideal conditions this plane should travel 1,200 kilometers per hour—roughly 750 miles per hour, he figured.

Firm's Oat Deals Cost U. S. Money, Senator Asserts

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Sen. Young (R-ND) said today that Cargill, Inc., "broke the market" in oats last year and two government officials said they believe the firm is trying to manipulate prices again by illegal trading.

Young said trading which had been profitable to the big Minneapolis grain dealing firm had cost the government money by pushing grain prices 10 to 15 cents a bushel below federal price support levels.

At Minneapolis, Cargill headquarters, the company said in a statement:

"Cargill, Inc., has previously made a flat denial of all suggestions of charges of this kind. We now repeat this denial."

J. M. Mehl, administrator of the Commodity Exchange Authority, said that recently "Cargill has been carrying on substantially the same operation," but he added:

"It's extremely difficult to prove these cases to a jury. This involves some 30 million bushels of oats."

Mehl and his chief compliance officer, D. B. Bagnell, testified before a Senate appropriations subcommittee headed by Young.

Mehl and Bagnell said Cargill's operations were aimed at piling up big profits by forcing down prices of oats to carry out "short" sales.

A short transaction is one in which a trader contracts to deliver a commodity at a future date at a specified price. He hopes that before the delivery date rolls around he can buy the commodity at a lower price and thus make money.

68 Missing Marines Believed Red Captives

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The Marine Corps has informed the families of 68 Marines, previously listed as missing in Korea, that they may be prisoners of war.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., Marine Corps commandant, explained to the families that various reports indicated the possibility that the men are alive, although they will continue to be carried as missing on the official military rolls pending further authentication of the information.

Names of the men were not released.

The families of the 68 have also been told that they may write to them, because the Chinese Communists have indicated they would forward such mail.

D'Alesandro Auto "Plates" Appear

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—Some "D'Alesandro for Governor" plates have been turning up in the front bumper spots formerly reserved for Maryland automobile license tags.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore says:

"I haven't authorized them. But I like to see and hear nice things said about me once in a while. Who doesn't?"

Maryland issued only one license plate to motorists this year and the regulations say they must go on the back of the car.

Three Minnesota Fugitives Captured

WATERLOO, Md. (AP)—Three 26-year-old men picked up on suspicion by Maryland state police yesterday were found today to be fugitives from the Minnesota State Reformatory at St. Cloud.

State police identified them as Jerry Duncan, of Spencer, N. C.; Richard D. Lloyd, address unknown, and Raymond Webb address unknown. The police said the three will oppose extradition.

rival of today's group of prisoners was in sharp contrast to the first arrivals.

The first group of 35 returned prisoners arrived Wednesday with a fanfare of publicity.

Subsequently two other planes left Tokyo for the United States. The Army in Tokyo would say only that they were carrying 63 men—41 on one plane and 22 on the other. Other information was censored. One plane, with 41 men, arrived in Honolulu Thursday and was still there today.

The other, with 22 former prisoners, was not reported at Honolulu.

Nine Who Rescued Jet Pilot Receive Carnegie Awards

PITTSBURGH, May 1 (AP)—Nine men who braved a gasoline-fed fire and exploding machine gun bullets in Alaskan wilds to save a U. S. Air Force pilot from his crashed jet plane received Carnegie Hero Awards today.

They were among 22 persons from 10 states and Alaska who got bronze medals for heroism. Four of the awards were given posthumously. Pensions amounting to $2,640 a year were given four persons and 18 others received educational funds totalling $8,000.

In the Alaskan rescue, Pilot Donald C. Seiler, then 24, was pulled from burning wreckage after his craft plunged into a wooded swamp near Anchorage Aug. 2, 1951. Seiler recovered from multiple injuries.

The rescue party consisted of Fred Whitmire, 31, an aircraft mechanic whose address has not been determined; Walter H. Nagel, 32, whose address is listed as Army Post Office 919, Seattle, Wash., and these men listed from Anchorage.

Daniel H. Parmenter, 52, Ward I. Gay, 40, Loyd M. Miller, 33, Herbert V. Enberg, 40, Joseph H. Parker, 48, Charles H. Stowell, 51, and Kenneth Gerondale, 22.

The Alaskan incident is one of many in the history of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission in which multiple awards were made.

The four heroes who gave their lives are Felix Ramirez, 56, of Austin, Tex.; George T. Loveless, 51, of St. Louis, Mo.; M. Ross Waldrop, 28, of Port Arthur, Tex., and O. Leonard Jeffers, 30, Bridgeport, W. Va.

All but Loveless died attempting to save other persons from drowning. Loveless saved a fellow worker from death when a huge metal pole broke loose. But the swinging pole toppled Loveless to death from the top of a factory building.

Boy, 11, Awarded Heroism Medal

PITTSBURGH, May 1 (AP)—An 11-year-old who rescued a five-year-old girl from drowning at Ocean City, Md., last summer was cited for bravery today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The commission awarded its bronze medal to young Mirrell M. Knabe Jr. of Pittsburgh.

The girl he rescued was Linda L. Baker.

"While playing on a low pier which extended 100 feet from the bank of a creek," the citation read, "Linda fell into deep water. Flailing her arms, she sank and rose repeatedly.

"Mirrell, who was rowing a skiff 50 feet away, was attracted and dived into the water fully clothed and wearing heavy shoes. Swimming to where he last had observed Linda, Mirrell groped beneath the surface and touched her.

"She grasped Mirrell at the front of shirt and almost submerged him. Forcibly freeing himself, Mirrell obtained a hold on Linda and drew her to the surface. She struggled with Mirrell, seizing his arm tightly with both hands.

"Mirrell swam, towing her to the end of the pier and attempted to lift her out of the water, but was unable to obtain a firm hold on the pier timbers, which were slippery.

"He continued towing Linda six feet along the side of the pier and trod water supporting her. Mirrell's father reached the pier and lifted Linda from the water, Mirrell following. Linda was in a dazed condition and had swallowed water, and Mirrell was tired.

"Both recovered."

Forbidden To Drive Car For Three Years After Fatal Accident

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—Lawrence T. Sterling, 21, who lives at Pasadena in nearby Anne Arundel County, today was forbidden to drive a car for three years after he was convicted of killing a heroic young Marine in a traffic accident.

Judge James K. Cullen convicted Sterling of a manslaughter charge after witnesses testified he had been driving 50 to 55 miles an hour down a Baltimore street.

Sterling's car ran down Willard Sutton, 19-year-old Marine, and Catherine Geisler, 17, as they were crossing a street after leaving a midnight mass.

Young Sutton shoved his girl friend out of the way so she was only slightly hurt, but his act of heroism left him to take the full impact and he died of injuries.

MARYLAND LIQUOR INDUSTRY ADVISORY COUNCIL
600 Tower Building, Baltimore 2, Md.

April 11, 1953

To The TAXPAYERS AND VOTERS OF MARYLAND

Thousands of Maryland citizens have written urging the passage of House Bill 14, requesting that they be kept informed of its progress.

This Bill, passed by the House of Delegates and the State Senate has been awaiting the governor's signature for some time.

Since existing police powers are inadequate, House Bill 14 was introduced by the Legislative Council of the Maryland State Legislature and provides for a small alcoholic beverages enforcement unit with police powers.

The small enforcement unit created would, in cooperation with local and Federal officers and agencies, combat the deplorable conditions which excessive cumulative liquor taxes have created in Maryland.

Governor McKeldin has, at several meetings, been completely informed as to the necessity of additional enforcement to combat the rebirth of illegal distilling and transportation; the growth of crime throughout the State; the decrease in the legal consumption of distilled spirits; the loss of county, city and state revenues; and the severe injury to legally operated local businesses.

WE ARE CONCERNED AT THE GOVERNOR'S DELAY IN SIGNING HOUSE BILL 14 AND BY HIS FAILURE TO ANSWER YOUR REQUEST FOR INFORMATION REGARDING THIS BILL. WE RESPECTFULLY URGE THAT HE PROMPTLY SIGN THIS BILL OR NOTIFY THE PUBLIC AND THE PRESS OF HIS REASONS FOR FAILING TO DO SO.

Sincerely yours,

Maryland Liquor Industry Advisory Council

The families of the 68 have also been told that they may write to them, because the Chinese Communists have indicated they would forward such mail.

D'Alesandro Auto "Plates" Appear

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—Some "D'Alesandro for Governor" plates have been turning up in the front bumper spots formerly reserved for Maryland automobile license tags.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore says:

"I haven't authorized them. But I like to see and hear nice things said about me once in a while. Who doesn't?"

Maryland issued only one license plate to motorists this year and the regulations say they must go on the back of the car.

Three Minnesota Fugitives Captured

WATERLOO, Md. (AP)—Three 26-year-old men picked up on suspicion by Maryland state police yesterday were found today to be fugitives from the Minnesota State Reformatory at St. Cloud.

State police identified them as Jerry Duncan, of Spencer, N. C.; Richard D. Lloyd, address unknown, and Raymond Webb address unknown. The police said the three will oppose extradition.

rival of today's group of prisoners was in sharp contrast to the first arrivals.

The first group of 35 returned prisoners arrived Wednesday with a fanfare of publicity.

Subsequently two other planes left Tokyo for the United States.

The Army in Tokyo would say only that they were carrying 63 men—41 on one plane and 22 on the other. Other information was censored. One plane, with 41 men, arrived in Honolulu Thursday and was still there today.

The other, with 22 former prisoners, was not reported at Honolulu.

PITTSBURGH, May 1 (AP)—Nine men who braved a gasoline-fed fire and exploding machine gun bullets in Alaskan wilds to save a U. S. Air Force pilot from his crashed jet plane received Carnegie Hero Awards today.

They were among 22 persons from 10 states and Alaska who got bronze medals for heroism. Four of the awards were given posthumously. Pensions amounting to $2,640 a year were given four persons and 18 others received educational funds totalling $8,000.

In the Alaskan rescue, Pilot Donald C. Seiler, then 24, was pulled from burning wreckage after his craft plunged into a wooded swamp near Anchorage Aug. 2, 1951. Seiler recovered from multiple injuries.

The rescue party consisted of Fred Whitmire, 31, an aircraft mechanic whose address has not been determined; Walter H. Nagel, 32, whose address is listed as Army Post Office 919, Seattle, Wash., and these men listed from Anchorage.

Daniel H. Parmenter, 52, Ward I. Gay, 40, Loyd M. Miller, 33, Herbert V. Enberg, 40, Joseph H. Parker, 48, Charles H. Stowell, 51, and Kenneth Gerondale, 22.

The Alaskan incident is one of many in the history of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission in which multiple awards were made.

The four heroes who gave their lives are Felix Ramirez, 56, of Austin, Tex.; George T. Loveless, 51, of St. Louis, Mo.; M. Ross Waldrop, 28, of Port Arthur, Tex., and O. Leonard Jeffers, 30, Bridgeport, W. Va.

All but Loveless died attempting to save other persons from drowning. Loveless saved a fellow worker from death when a huge metal pole broke loose. But the swinging pole toppled Loveless to death from the top of a factory building.

Boy, 11, Awarded Heroism Medal

PITTSBURGH, May 1 (AP)—An 11-year-old who rescued a five-year-old girl from drowning at Ocean City, Md., last summer was cited for bravery today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The commission awarded its bronze medal to young Mirrell M. Knabe Jr. of Pittsburgh.

The girl he rescued was Linda L. Baker.

"While playing on a low pier which extended 100 feet from the bank of a creek," the citation read, "Linda fell into deep water. Flailing her arms, she sank and rose repeatedly.

"Mirrell, who was rowing a skiff 50 feet away, was attracted and dived into the water fully clothed and wearing heavy shoes. Swimming to where he last had observed Linda, Mirrell groped beneath the surface and touched her.

"She grasped Mirrell at the front of shirt and almost submerged him. Forcibly freeing himself, Mirrell obtained a hold on Linda and drew her to the surface. She struggled with Mirrell, seizing his arm tightly with both hands.

"Mirrell swam, towing her to the end of the pier and attempted to lift her out of the water, but was unable to obtain a firm hold on the pier timbers, which were slippery.

"He continued towing Linda six feet along the side of the pier and trod water supporting her. Mirrell's father reached the pier and lifted Linda from the water, Mirrell following. Linda was in a dazed condition and had swallowed water, and Mirrell was tired.

"Both recovered."

Forbidden To Drive Car For Three Years After Fatal Accident

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—Lawrence T. Sterling, 21, who lives at Pasadena in nearby Anne Arundel County, today was forbidden to drive a car for three years after he was convicted of killing a heroic young Marine in a traffic accident.

Judge James K. Cullen convicted Sterling of a manslaughter charge after witnesses testified he had been driving 50 to 55 miles an hour down a Baltimore street.

Sterling's car ran down Willard Sutton, 19-year-old Marine, and Catherine Geisler, 17, as they were crossing a street after leaving a midnight mass.

Young Sutton shoved his girl friend out of the way so she was only slightly hurt, but his act of heroism left him to take the full impact and he died of injuries.

MARYLAND LIQUOR INDUSTRY ADVISORY COUNCIL
600 Tower Building, Baltimore 2, Md.

April 11, 1953

To The TAXPAYERS AND VOTERS OF MARYLAND

Thousands of Maryland citizens have written urging the passage of House Bill 14, requesting that they be kept informed of its progress.

This Bill, passed by the House of Delegates and the State Senate has been awaiting the governor's signature for some time.

Since existing police powers are inadequate, House Bill 14 was introduced by the Legislative Council of the Maryland State Legislature and provides for a small alcoholic beverages enforcement unit with police powers.

The small enforcement unit created would, in cooperation with local and Federal officers and agencies, combat the deplorable conditions which excessive cumulative liquor taxes have created in Maryland.

Governor McKeldin has, at several meetings, been completely informed as to the necessity of additional enforcement to combat the rebirth of illegal distilling and transportation; the growth of crime throughout the State; the decrease in the legal consumption of distilled spirits; the loss of county, city and state revenues; and the severe injury to legally operated local businesses.

WE ARE CONCERNED AT THE GOVERNOR'S DELAY IN SIGNING HOUSE BILL 14 AND BY HIS FAILURE TO ANSWER YOUR REQUEST FOR INFORMATION REGARDING THIS BILL. WE RESPECTFULLY URGE THAT HE PROMPTLY SIGN THIS BILL OR NOTIFY THE PUBLIC AND THE PRESS OF HIS REASONS FOR FAILING TO DO SO.

Sincerely yours,

Maryland Liquor Industry Advisory Council

The Queen Says No

It is easy for Americans to read of controversy in Britain and think of the country as rocking under the impact. That observation surely applies when one ancient British institution, the throne, is ranged against another—particularly when the other is the public house, often called "the poor man's club." Look what's happened.

At Great Missenden in Buckinghamshire the proprietor of a pub sought permission to change the name of his establishment from The Stag and Hounds to The Prince Charles. It seemed a reasonable request. There were two pubs called The Stag and Hounds in Great Missenden and the patrons sometimes were confused as to where they had spent the evening.

The local magistrates approved. But the other day the proprietor was back before them with an application to rename his place The Valiant Trooper.

The office of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Home Affairs had informed the licensee that Queen Elizabeth did not wish to have Prince Charles' name on a pub. The statement said that "titles of living members of the royal family may not be used without the express permission of the Sovereign who does not wish to give it in connection with the names of public houses. This is an instruction from the Palace."

Herbert Cross, proprietor of the erstwhile Stag and Hounds, later The Prince Charles, and now The Valiant Trooper, took it hard. He had thought it would be nice to name his house The Prince Charles, what with the coronation coming and all. But he was sorry if he had offended the Queen.

Apparently this does not mean that pubs named for deceased members of the royal family will have to be changed. If it did, Britain might rock indeed. In London alone there are no less than 13 named The Duke of Edinburgh, three The Queen Elizabeth, and four The Duke of Cornwall. These titles are all current, but the pubs were named for persons who bore them long ago.

Making It Official

"Upon the overwhelming weight of the evidence in this proceeding, we find that respondent (the Communist party of the United States) is substantially directed, dominated and controlled by the Soviet Union . . . From its inception in 1919 it has been a subsidiary of the Soviet Union."

This is the essence of the verdict of the Subversive Activities Control Board after hearings lasting more than 14 months. It is the basis of an affirmed order for the Communist party to register as a foreign agent under the McCarran Act, filing annually a financial accounting and a list of officers and members.

The verdict merely states what was already common knowledge, but it does so through due process of law, with complete fairness of procedure. Of course the Reds will appeal the ruling to the United States Supreme Court.

Only the ignorant or the half-witted ever believed the Communist party in the United States was anything but a tool of Moscow. From its inception in 1919 it has been engaged in espionage and in stirring up labor unrest in this country.

Much evidence of treasonable activities of Communists in the United States was unearthed by the old Dies Committee of the House of Representatives. Other congressional committees have been adding to the stockpile ever since.

Now, at long delayed last, the government seems to be willing to take effective action against this traitorous outfit.

More War Trials?

State and Defense Departments have assured a Senate Foreign Affairs subcommittee that they are accumulating evidence of Korean atrocities in case war crimes trials should be held later. But don't bet on such trials being held after the Korean War.

What made such trials possible after World War II was the complete victory of the Allies. Where there is a negotiated peace, war crimes trials can be held only if both sides agree. If the Reds should agree, of which there is little prospect, they would undoubtedly insist on trying Allied officers and men, too. They have long threatened to do that.

They would want to try General Clark and others on trumped-up germ warfare charges. All Communist propaganda organs have long insisted that American forces committed the most incredible atrocities against Koreans, cutting off the hands of babies, using their heads for football practice, and so on. The Reds have also charged barbarous treatment of their own prisoners on Koje Island.

Communists being what they are, there can be no doubt that the Reds are prepared to produce an unlimited number of witnesses to swear to such charges.

Holding impartial trials of war criminals is a good idea in theory. But few Germans are convinced that those found guilty after World War II were not railroaded by the victors. The perpetrators of Russian war crimes like the Katyn massacre haven't been and will not be brought to justice.

Cruise Of The 'Santa'

The Coast Guard was properly apprehensive over the probable fate of the sloop "Santa" when she bravely put to sea from Lewes, Del., on April 2. At the time, Paul Anderton, a University of Maryland student, said his next stop was the Azores.

Well, anyone who has tried his hand at navigation knows what a tough landfall the Azores make. Drift, set and current must be taken into account even though there is a succession of "bluebird" days all the way across, which is unlikely. When you can get a series of good evening and morning star sights that give you good fixes, you can cheer and holler.

All this assumes you have good equipment and a propeller shaft turning faithfully in its bearings. Imagine the odds against a landfall if you are in a home-made 20-foot sloop with little or no creature comforts. Ahead lie 2,200 miles of choppy Atlantic. These were the odds against young Anderton when he was last seen beating southeasterly off the Overfalls Lightship. After that—silence.

It now appears that he put in a very rough 10 days during which the winds were most contrary and cold. The cabin was flooded and gusts almost capsized the "Santa" several times. The craft was coaxed around Cape Charles and into the Chesapeake. The cruise ended officially at Gwynn Island, just south of the mouth of the Rappahannock. As a nautical accomplishment, the voyage was a flop. But voyages in 20-foot sloops are not measured with the usual yardsticks.

How To Keep Well

The Swing And Sway Of Walking

Like father, like son, applies to many characteristics, including the way we walk and run. This is best observed when watching the members of a family stroll down the avenue. More often than not they will hold their heads in the same manner and have the same swing to the shoulders, arms, and hips.

Some of the most learned and difficult articles I have ever read dealt with a detailed description of what happens when walking. Most of these dissertations must have taken years of research in which many hours were spent studying moving pictures and charts of men and women walking fast or slow as well as trotting and sprinting. The topic becomes most complicated when the discussion turns to the center of gravity, the number of muscles involved and what each one does, rotary motion, equilibrium, inertia, and other factors. Most of these studies apply to the healthy individual and all the normal variations there are. The abnormal gait is another subject because the entire mechanism is easily upset by paralysis of a single muscle, stiffness in the hips, or pain in the ball of the foot.

The normal gait consists of a rhythmic alternation of periods of swing and support. Because man has only two legs, balance enters the picture so that with each step there is a play between loss and recovery of equilibrium. Walking entails the use of the pelvis, trunk, and thorax. When the pelvis rises on the side of the swinging leg, the shoulder droops on the same side so that the chest inclines toward the pelvis to maintain balance.

Individual peculiarities in gait usually result from exaggeration or restrictions of normal processes. They also stem from temporary relaxation or loss of muscle tone to create what appears to be fatigue or weakness. Women are inclined to walk with a swinging gait in which the up and down movements of the pelvis are exaggerated. This is like a sailor's gait except not as extreme. In the stilted, or majestic gait seen in processions the oscillations of the pelvis and shoulder are limited. A similar illustration is the mincing gait in which shorter but quicker steps are taken. In the staggering gait the legs are spread so that the stride is wide. Overrelaxation of the muscles and poor posture lead to a slouchy walk which differs in many respects from the fatigue gait; the tired person appears to be carrying a heavy load and the body is bent forward and the knees are flexed.

Abnormal gaits, on the other hand, are much more bizarre. Certain diseases of the brain lead to ataxia, which is allied to the staggering walk of the alcoholic. The muscle movements are jerky and uncoordinated and the individual walks in a wide base. Those with tabes keep the eyes fixed on the ground because they have lost the sense of perception. In shaking palsy, the gait resembles that of the old man so often portrayed on the stage; the body is bent forward and held rigid. When the foot is paralyzed (foot drop) the leg is raised high and the foot is slapped down upon the ground with a flailing motion. Any one standing on a busy corner can recognize these different gaits by observing the crowd go by.

REPLY

This is one cause; many persons who are under tension complain of bloating. Besides nervous strain, an overactive intestine may result from thyroid disorders, allergy, and the habitual use of laxatives. Other causes include the swallowing of air, overeating, constipation, gall bladder, and other intestinal disturbances, and the use of gas forming foods such as cabbage.

Henry Grunewald Objects To "Mystery Man" Label; Grunewald's Path Was Difficult To Cross; Henry's Friends Included Republicans And Democrats

WASHINGTON — Henry Grunewald, the fabulous Dutchman, seems to think I owe him an apology. He complained to congressmen the other day about the tag of "mystery man" which this column pinned on him when I first began investigating his mysterious connections with high government officials.

Grunewald was being cross examined by the House Tax Fraud Committee when he was asked by Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat:

"What about this title of 'mystery man' that Drew Pearson has given you?"

"That is a name that Mr. Pearson invented himself," shrugged Grunewald.

"But in what way are you offended by being referred to as a 'mystery man' rather than Dutchman or any other title that a man of your note might be tagged with?" King pressed.

"Well, the only reason is, I don't know why Mr. Pearson might have taken it upon himself that I am a 'mystery man' because I live in the Washintgon Hotel, and all this hullabaloo and so forth . . ." The Dutchman fumbled.

"We couldn't find you for a while; we didn't know where you were and we were looking for you," broke in Congressman Hale Boggs, Louisiana Democrat. "That was kind of mysterious.

"There has been considerable mystery created here by your testimony as to the nature of the services you performed for people, and the source of all this cash that seems to find its way into your safe-deposit box," added the committee's chief counsel, John Tobin.

"I have noted," observed King, "that you have a nickname for Mr. Pearson. I didn't get it clear, Mr. Grunewald. What is it you have called him two times here?"

"Druly Drew," piped up Grounewald.

"So for calling you 'mystery man,' you have given him the name of 'Druly Drew'," chuckled the congressman from California.

Mystery of "Mystery Man"

I don't particularly blame Henry Grunewald for being sore at me. He's a nice little guy, and if he hadn't pulled wires in connection with so many important people, he wouldn't merit public comment. When you go around with bigshots, however, or try to pull wires or peddle influence, the rule of the American system is that you subject yourself to public scrutiny.

However, if Henry Grunewald isn't mysterious, then I don't write a newspaper column. The manner in which I first ran across his amazing machinations is in itself quite a story.

Henry first bobbed up on my news horizon when I was probing the wire-tapping of Howard Hughes by Police Lieutenant Joe Shimon on behalf of Senator Brewster and Pan American Airways. The fact that the telephone of an American businessman should be tapped on behalf of rival American businessmen to me smacked a bit of Moscow, and in tracking down these various angles it developed that Lieut. Shimon used to report on his wire-tapping to a man named "The Dutchman" in the Munsey Building.

"The Dutchman's" office was traced to a law suite occupied by an attorney named Ed Martin who claimed the office once was occupied by Grunewald but that Grunewald had moved away. He knew nothing about him..

But—the minute Jack Anderson of my staff was out the door, however, Martin hastily picked up the phone and called—guess who? Senator Bridges of New Hampshire. "A guy named Anderson," he said, "was up here looking for Henry."

That was the first link between Grunewald and Senator Bridges.

Later that day, Ed Martin, the man who said he didn't know Grunewald, loaned Grunewald his car and the mysterious Dutchman left for The Plains, Va., to hide out for a month. This was at the time a Senate committee was looking for him. This may not be "mysterious," as Henry now claims, but at least it's interesting.

Mysterious Hotel Room

Meanwhile, this column, looking for the man who doesn't like to be called mysterious, found that he used a suite registered in the name of ex-Secretary of War Harry Woodring in the Washington Hotel. However, he wasn't there. One night, trying to find Henry, Jack Anderson knocked on the door at 3 a. m., and a somewhat rumpled, definitely irate, bald head was poked out. It turned out to be William Power Maloney, Grunewald's attorney, and an old friend of mine.

On another occasion, Max Halperin was discovered in the hotel suite Grunewald usually occupied. Halperin blandly claimed ignorance of the Dutchman or his whereabouts. Recently he refused to answer questions about tax-fixing on the ground of self-incrimination.

Finally Grunewald was discovered in his Virginia hide-out, came back to Washington, was hauled before the Senate wire-tap investigating committee, talked so little that a majority of the senators voted to cite the Dutchman for contempt. However, important friends suddenly came to his rescue — among them Sen. Joe McCarthy.

McCarthy pulled such effective wires with Republican senators that they brought in a minority whitewash report, and at that time Grunewald was never cited.

Meanwhile this column raked up the highly interesting fact that Senator Bridges, who wasn't supposed to know Grunewald, had introduced a bill in the Senate to increase the salary of Charles Oliphant, then counsel of Internal Revenue and the man both Bridges and Grunewald were working with re the huge $7,000,000 tax-fraud case of Hyman Klein, Baltimore liquor dealer. It was the New Hampshire senator who had put Klein in touch with Grunewald.

Here And Now

National Family Week
(May 3-10)

A modern authority on family relations tells us that the normal family should consist of father and mother, two or more children, and a pet.

The first family of the race consisted of Adam and Eve, and their three sons, Cain, Abel and Seth. No pet is mentioned in the family record. With that omission could it still be considered a normal family? What happened is typically modern. Eve listened to a slimy gossiper, Adam blamed his wife, Cain killed Abel, and all lost Paradise.

It is said that marriages are made in heaven, and so they are, in principle. If they are based on love, integrity, compatibility and loyalty to the sanctities of life, they will stand; if not, they rest on a shaky foundation.

The present-day breakdown of the family, resulting in a ratio of one divorce to every four marriages, juvenile delinquency, free love and moral degeneracies that spawn from the same source, poses a problem that is giving concern to all serious-minded people, both lay and professional, who by common consent have agreed to take a week each year to bring the family in focus for special study and action in the hope that ways and means may be devised if possible to heal this deadly social melaise.

The discouraging outlook has a bearing on the future of the race. In view of the statistics young people hesitate to take the matrimonial leap. Why abridge my constitutional right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness by sharing it? Why give hostages to Fate by bringing children into the world to be fed, clothed and educated.

But "propinquity intensifies susceptibility," meaning that when boy and girl have too many dates the progenitive drive begins to assert itself and all their inhibitions are swept away as they decide that "two can live as cheaply as one," and as for children, "they are cheaper by the dozen." And so the drama of life begins.

Mothers know more by intuition; fathers have to be "educated." While pacing the hospital corridors in the throes of marital anxiety and before the nurse announces, "It's a boy!" the father metamorphoses from an individualist to a commoner. He swells with pride and passes out the cigars.

But his sense of importance soon shrivels when a new voice is heard in the management of his household affairs, and he becomes a silent partner whose main function is utilitarian.

His curriculum is a course in orientation entitled "bringing up father," which in spite of all his home work he may flunk; or he may receive "honorable mention" from the family who are his faculty of instruction.

Being a successful pater familias means that one's former rights henceforth become privileges and that, like the early Christians, he has "all things common" with the rest of the family, even to the point of discovering when dressing that Junior has appropriated his favorite tie and cuff links, leaving him sartorially stranded. Or he may have to postpone his trip to the country because Junior has dated his girl for a ride in the family car.

Most of us would not go as far as did George Bernard Shaw to say that "no parent should hold himself up to his children as anything but a warning." Children have their own ideas about their parents. Maybe they are shocked because Dad is such a clodhopper of a dancer, or his table manners are bad; or Mother's hair-do is ancient. But years later when these same parents are beyond the reach of praise or blame their children will rise up and call them blessed.

One of the best ways for children to honor their parents is to keep the family name unsullied. Martin G. Brumbaugh was a noted Pennsylvania educator and was one-time governor of his state. His father kept a country store which was also the post office. Martin as a lad helped him. One day the village doctor came for his mail and as Martin handed out the package he looked the lad in the eye and said, "Martin, I have known your family in this valley for three generations. I have never known one of them to be intoxicated. See to it that you do not break the family record."

Looking back, Brumbaugh said, "It was the best temperance sermon I ever heard."

BROTHER BARNABAS

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Tariff Rides A Storm

When the British or the Russians start a campaign in this country, there are always Americans to take up the slogans. When it is done for the Russians, it is subversive. But when the propaganda is to help the British, then the names are important and the organizations are outstanding.

For instance, at the present time the British are advocating the virtual abolition of the American tariff because that would help them, the British. The argument ought to be stated with great simplicity, namely, that the British want more trade — they add "not aid" to the slogan but that has not yet appeared in the facts. So, if the British want more trade, all we need to do is to abolish our tariff, let in their cheaper goods manufactured at lower wages, subsidized by American aid.

The CED — Committee for Economic Development — was originally founded by Paul Hoffman, the Marshall Plan almoner, who now heads the Fund for the Republic to which the Ford Foundation contributed $15,000,000 to find out why Communists are being investigated by congressional committees. The CED has come out with an expensively printed brochure to convince Americans that they ought to let European, meaning British, goods come in on a lower tariff.

Then Henry Ford II delivers a free trade speech to which I recently referred. Now comes David Rockefeller, senior vice president of the Chase National Bank, with a speech entitled "Toward Stable Prosperity in the Free World."

First of all, we need to define the term "the Free World." This is one of those loose expressions devised to give an impression that something exists which does not. Everybody uses it because it sounds good. Actually, except for the Benelux effort and the Schuman Plan, there is no unity of economic action among the non-Soviet countries. They are competing against each other in the markets that remain to them. If there is any unity of perspective, it is to drive the United States out of markets wherever possible, not only by lower prices, partially subsidized by American aid, but also by a continuing anti-American propaganda.

David Rockefeller, in a speech, said:

". . . The free world is now in a better position than at any time in the postwar period to move toward freeing trade and making currencies convertible. Nevertheless, there remain controls and restrictions which continue to hamper international trade and commerce. These must be dismantled in order to expand world trade and production. Notably, United States tariffs and trade restrictions must be reduced drastically and, in the dollar deficit areas, monetary reserves should be strengthened and internal inflation must be curbed . . ."

This is in line with the British proposals to our government made by Churchill and Eden when they were in this country. They did right to make the proposals because they were serving their country. But that does not mean that Americans need to accept them unless it serves the United States.

Is the United States in a position to reduce its tariffs drastically, to eliminate trade restrictions, to abolish the "Buy American" law, to underwrite the British pound without lowering wages, reducing the number of Americans employed, and without lowering the American standard of living?

No evidence has yet been produced to show that this is possible. What has been shown is that it would be a good thing for European exporting countries if this were done. And it would be a good thing for them, up to the moment that we moved into another depression. Then it would embarrass them as all aid to Europe would have to cease. Therefore, while from the short-sighted view, the destruction of the defenses of the American economy might aid Great Britain, in the long view it could be a disaster for all.

Mr. Rockefeller also said:

". . . we can't hope for military strength and political unity unless we can develop an economic policy that will produce rising living standards throughout the free world."

The facts are that we have actually been pouring billions of dollars of the earnings of the American people into Europe and Asia under the Marshall Plan, European military aid, Point Four, the subsidies to Germany and Japan — money that will never be returned to us.

How much more must we do before we go broke? David Rockefeller might read, to advantage, the Economic Legacy, which George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury, issued recently as a speech. That balance sheet is not very encouraging.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has just taken a look at the "last 100 days" of the Truman administration and also at the hodge-podge of commitments left him as a legacy from several other 100-day periods in the last few years when irresponsible, reckless and spendthrift government was rapidly driving the American economic system to the edge of bankruptcy.

"It has been the purpose of this administration," says Mr. Eisenhower, "ever since it took office, finding itself confronted with a crazy quilt of promises, commitments, and contracts, to bring American military logic and American economic logic into joint strong harness.

"No more glaring illustration of the lack of balance between the military logic and the economic logic could possibly be found than the situation that existed when we took office. On the one hand, we found our allies deploring our unfulfilled defense promises. On the other hand, we found there was a total carry-over of $81 billions in appropriated funds, largely committed, for which cash must be provided from revenues in future fiscal years, over and above the normal annual cost of government. It's just as if the late administration had gone to the store and ordered $81 billions of goods, which we've got to pay for as they're delivered, in addition to paying the regular household running expenses."

Hard To Tell

Small wonder that the President, even though he sees an 8½-billion-dollar saving for the fiscal year which begins July 1 next, can't see right now whether or when the budget can be balanced.

All sorts of plans are being made to tackle this part of "the Washington mess" from a new approach —trying to cut out waste in existing commitments and trying to get better quality and less quantity in military weapons. Also the "peak" year idea has been discarded in favor of a "stretch out" or gradual build-up of military strength — something that may, incidentally, avoid a sharp readjustment in business due to a drastically curtailed spending by the government in any one year.

Naturally, Mr. Eisenhower would like to prevent a continuance of irresponsible procurement of military supplies. He has offered to Congress a plan to reorganize the whole Department of Defense. Unfortunately, the subject is of such a complex nature and involves so directly the exercise of the legislative power by Congress, that the President would have been better advised to submit a draft of a new national defense law revising the present setup from top to bottom.

Congress is likely to turn thumbs down on the proposed "reorganization" plan because it is too vague and is unconstitutional. Congress has the duty under the Constitution to make laws regulating the armed services. This power cannot be delegated to a secretary of Defense. Nor can the President, who is elected by the people, delegate to an appointed cabinet member his duties of a "commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy," as prescribed in the Constitution.

The text of the reorganization plan permits the complete delegation of power also at any moment by the secretary of Defense to any one of his six assistants, even though Mr. Eisenhower in his foreword of explanation says that, "Without imposing themselves in the direct lines of responsibility and authority between the secretary of Defense and the secretaries of the three military departments, the assistant secretaries of Defense will provide the secretary with a continuing review of the programs of the defense establishment and help him institute major improvements in their execution."

Will Diffuse Authority

"Performance of functions: the secretary of Defense may from time to time make such provisions as he shall deem appropriate authorizing the performance by any other officer, or by any agency or employe, of the Department of Defense of any function of the secretary, including any function transferred to the secretary by the provisions of this reorganization plan."

It is contrary to the entire spirit of the defense laws of the past to delegate to any cabinet member authority over all the armed services and to let him delegate it to any subordinate he pleases whenever he pleases. Such a delegation of authority has never before been suggested in the history of America's armed services. Instead of concentrating responsibility, it will tend to diffuse authority and render still less important the posts of the secretaries of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.

What has happened is that originally the Air Force wanted to be separated from the Army. Out of two departments, three were created. Then came the drive for "unification." The Defense Department was established in response to a crusade for an over-all department that would co-ordinate all three armed services. Now, instead of "triplication," the result has been "quadruplication."

The Queen Says No

It is easy for Americans to read of controversy in Britain and think of the country as rocking under the impact. That observation surely applies when one ancient British institution, the throne, is ranged against another—particularly when the other is the public house, often called "the poor man's club." Look what's happened.

At Great Missenden in Buckinghamshire the proprietor of a pub sought permission to change the name of his establishment from The Stag and Hounds to The Prince Charles. It seemed a reasonable request. There were two pubs called The Stag and Hounds in Great Missenden and the patrons sometimes were confused as to where they had spent the evening.

The local magistrates approved. But the other day the proprietor was back before them with an application to rename his place The Valiant Trooper.

The office of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Home Affairs had informed the licensee that Queen Elizabeth did not wish to have Prince Charles' name on a pub. The statement said that "titles of living members of the royal family may not be used without the express permission of the Sovereign who does not wish to give it in connection with the names of public houses. This is an instruction from the Palace."

Herbert Cross, proprietor of the erstwhile Stag and Hounds, later The Prince Charles, and now The Valiant Trooper, took it hard. He had thought it would be nice to name his house The Prince Charles, what with the coronation coming and all. But he was sorry if he had offended the Queen.

Apparently this does not mean that pubs named for deceased members of the royal family will have to be changed. If it did, Britain might rock indeed. In London alone there are no less than 13 named The Duke of Edinburgh, three The Queen Elizabeth, and four The Duke of Cornwall. These titles are all current, but the pubs were named for persons who bore them long ago.

Making It Official

"Upon the overwhelming weight of the evidence in this proceeding, we find that respondent (the Communist party of the United States) is substantially directed, dominated and controlled by the Soviet Union . . . From its inception in 1919 it has been a subsidiary of the Soviet Union."

This is the essence of the verdict of the Subversive Activities Control Board after hearings lasting more than 14 months. It is the basis of an affirmed order for the Communist party to register as a foreign agent under the McCarran Act, filing annually a financial accounting and a list of officers and members.

The verdict merely states what was already common knowledge, but it does so through due process of law, with complete fairness of procedure. Of course the Reds will appeal the ruling to the United States Supreme Court.

Only the ignorant or the half-witted ever believed the Communist party in the United States was anything but a tool of Moscow. From its inception in 1919 it has been engaged in espionage and in stirring up labor unrest in this country.

Much evidence of treasonable activities of Communists in the United States was unearthed by the old Dies Committee of the House of Representatives. Other congressional committees have been adding to the stockpile ever since.

Now, at long delayed last, the government seems to be willing to take effective action against this traitorous outfit.

More War Trials?

State and Defense Departments have assured a Senate Foreign Affairs subcommittee that they are accumulating evidence of Korean atrocities in case war crimes trials should be held later. But don't bet on such trials being held after the Korean War.

What made such trials possible after World War II was the complete victory of the Allies. Where there is a negotiated peace, war crimes trials can be held only if both sides agree. If the Reds should agree, of which there is little prospect, they would undoubtedly insist on trying Allied officers and men, too. They have long threatened to do that.

They would want to try General Clark and others on trumped-up germ warfare charges. All Communist propaganda organs have long insisted that American forces committed the most incredible atrocities against Koreans, cutting off the hands of babies, using their heads for football practice, and so on. The Reds have also charged barbarous treatment of their own prisoners on Koje Island.

Communists being what they are, there can be no doubt that the Reds are prepared to produce an unlimited number of witnesses to swear to such charges.

Holding impartial trials of war criminals is a good idea in theory. But few Germans are convinced that those found guilty after World War II were not railroaded by the victors. The perpetrators of Russian war crimes like the Katyn massacre haven't been and will not be brought to justice.

Cruise Of The 'Santa'

The Coast Guard was properly apprehensive over the probable fate of the sloop "Santa" when she bravely put to sea from Lewes, Del., on April 2. At the time, Paul Anderton, a University of Maryland student, said his next stop was the Azores.

Well, anyone who has tried his hand at navigation knows what a tough landfall the Azores make. Drift, set and current must be taken into account even though there is a succession of "bluebird" days all the way across, which is unlikely. When you can get a series of good evening and morning star sights that give you good fixes, you can cheer and holler.

All this assumes you have good equipment and a propeller shaft turning faithfully in its bearings. Imagine the odds against a landfall if you are in a home-made 20-foot sloop with little or no creature comforts. Ahead lie 2,200 miles of choppy Atlantic. These were the odds against young Anderton when he was last seen beating southeasterly off the Overfalls Lightship. After that—silence.

It now appears that he put in a very rough 10 days during which the winds were most contrary and cold. The cabin was flooded and gusts almost capsized the "Santa" several times. The craft was coaxed around Cape Charles and into the Chesapeake. The cruise ended officially at Gwynn Island, just south of the mouth of the Rappahannock. As a nautical accomplishment, the voyage was a flop. But voyages in 20-foot sloops are not measured with the usual yardsticks.

The Swing And Sway Of Walking

Like father, like son, applies to many characteristics, including the way we walk and run. This is best observed when watching the members of a family stroll down the avenue. More often than not they will hold their heads in the same manner and have the same swing to the shoulders, arms, and hips.

Some of the most learned and difficult articles I have ever read dealt with a detailed description of what happens when walking. Most of these dissertations must have taken years of research in which many hours were spent studying moving pictures and charts of men and women walking fast or slow as well as trotting and sprinting. The topic becomes most complicated when the discussion turns to the center of gravity, the number of muscles involved and what each one does, rotary motion, equilibrium, inertia, and other factors. Most of these studies apply to the healthy individual and all the normal variations there are. The abnormal gait is another subject because the entire mechanism is easily upset by paralysis of a single muscle, stiffness in the hips, or pain in the ball of the foot.

The normal gait consists of a rhythmic alternation of periods of swing and support. Because man has only two legs, balance enters the picture so that with each step there is a play between loss and recovery of equilibrium. Walking entails the use of the pelvis, trunk, and thorax. When the pelvis rises on the side of the swinging leg, the shoulder droops on the same side so that the chest inclines toward the pelvis to maintain balance.

Individual peculiarities in gait usually result from exaggeration or restrictions of normal processes. They also stem from temporary relaxation or loss of muscle tone to create what appears to be fatigue or weakness. Women are inclined to walk with a swinging gait in which the up and down movements of the pelvis are exaggerated. This is like a sailor's gait except not as extreme. In the stilted, or majestic gait seen in processions the oscillations of the pelvis and shoulder are limited. A similar illustration is the mincing gait in which shorter but quicker steps are taken. In the staggering gait the legs are spread so that the stride is wide. Overrelaxation of the muscles and poor posture lead to a slouchy walk which differs in many respects from the fatigue gait; the tired person appears to be carrying a heavy load and the body is bent forward and the knees are flexed.

Abnormal gaits, on the other hand, are much more bizarre. Certain diseases of the brain lead to ataxia, which is allied to the staggering walk of the alcoholic. The muscle movements are jerky and uncoordinated and the individual walks in a wide base. Those with tabes keep the eyes fixed on the ground because they have lost the sense of perception. In shaking palsy, the gait resembles that of the old man so often portrayed on the stage; the body is bent forward and held rigid. When the foot is paralyzed (foot drop) the leg is raised high and the foot is slapped down upon the ground with a flailing motion. Any one standing on a busy corner can recognize these different gaits by observing the crowd go by.

Henry Grunewald Objects To "Mystery Man" Label; Grunewald's Path Was Difficult To Cross; Henry's Friends Included Republicans And Democrats

WASHINGTON — Henry Grunewald, the fabulous Dutchman, seems to think I owe him an apology. He complained to congressmen the other day about the tag of "mystery man" which this column pinned on him when I first began investigating his mysterious connections with high government officials.

Grunewald was being cross examined by the House Tax Fraud Committee when he was asked by Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat:

"What about this title of 'mystery man' that Drew Pearson has given you?"

"That is a name that Mr. Pearson invented himself," shrugged Grunewald.

"But in what way are you offended by being referred to as a 'mystery man' rather than Dutchman or any other title that a man of your note might be tagged with?" King pressed.

"Well, the only reason is, I don't know why Mr. Pearson might have taken it upon himself that I am a 'mystery man' because I live in the Washintgon Hotel, and all this hullabaloo and so forth . . ." The Dutchman fumbled.

"We couldn't find you for a while; we didn't know where you were and we were looking for you," broke in Congressman Hale Boggs, Louisiana Democrat. "That was kind of mysterious.

"There has been considerable mystery created here by your testimony as to the nature of the services you performed for people, and the source of all this cash that seems to find its way into your safe-deposit box," added the committee's chief counsel, John Tobin.

"I have noted," observed King, "that you have a nickname for Mr. Pearson. I didn't get it clear, Mr. Grunewald. What is it you have called him two times here?"

"Druly Drew," piped up Grounewald.

"So for calling you 'mystery man,' you have given him the name of 'Druly Drew'," chuckled the congressman from California.

Mystery of "Mystery Man"

I don't particularly blame Henry Grunewald for being sore at me. He's a nice little guy, and if he hadn't pulled wires in connection with so many important people, he wouldn't merit public comment. When you go around with bigshots, however, or try to pull wires or peddle influence, the rule of the American system is that you subject yourself to public scrutiny.

However, if Henry Grunewald isn't mysterious, then I don't write a newspaper column. The manner in which I first ran across his amazing machinations is in itself quite a story.

Henry first bobbed up on my news horizon when I was probing the wire-tapping of Howard Hughes by Police Lieutenant Joe Shimon on behalf of Senator Brewster and Pan American Airways. The fact that the telephone of an American businessman should be tapped on behalf of rival American businessmen to me smacked a bit of Moscow, and in tracking down these various angles it developed that Lieut. Shimon used to report on his wire-tapping to a man named "The Dutchman" in the Munsey Building.

"The Dutchman's" office was traced to a law suite occupied by an attorney named Ed Martin who claimed the office once was occupied by Grunewald but that Grunewald had moved away. He knew nothing about him..

But—the minute Jack Anderson of my staff was out the door, however, Martin hastily picked up the phone and called—guess who? Senator Bridges of New Hampshire. "A guy named Anderson," he said, "was up here looking for Henry."

That was the first link between Grunewald and Senator Bridges.

Later that day, Ed Martin, the man who said he didn't know Grunewald, loaned Grunewald his car and the mysterious Dutchman left for The Plains, Va., to hide out for a month. This was at the time a Senate committee was looking for him. This may not be "mysterious," as Henry now claims, but at least it's interesting.

Mysterious Hotel Room

Meanwhile, this column, looking for the man who doesn't like to be called mysterious, found that he used a suite registered in the name of ex-Secretary of War Harry Woodring in the Washington Hotel. However, he wasn't there. One night, trying to find Henry, Jack Anderson knocked on the door at 3 a. m., and a somewhat rumpled, definitely irate, bald head was poked out. It turned out to be William Power Maloney, Grunewald's attorney, and an old friend of mine.

On another occasion, Max Halperin was discovered in the hotel suite Grunewald usually occupied. Halperin blandly claimed ignorance of the Dutchman or his whereabouts. Recently he refused to answer questions about tax-fixing on the ground of self-incrimination.

Finally Grunewald was discovered in his Virginia hide-out, came back to Washington, was hauled before the Senate wire-tap investigating committee, talked so little that a majority of the senators voted to cite the Dutchman for contempt. However, important friends suddenly came to his rescue — among them Sen. Joe McCarthy.

McCarthy pulled such effective wires with Republican senators that they brought in a minority whitewash report, and at that time Grunewald was never cited.

Meanwhile this column raked up the highly interesting fact that Senator Bridges, who wasn't supposed to know Grunewald, had introduced a bill in the Senate to increase the salary of Charles Oliphant, then counsel of Internal Revenue and the man both Bridges and Grunewald were working with re the huge $7,000,000 tax-fraud case of Hyman Klein, Baltimore liquor dealer. It was the New Hampshire senator who had put Klein in touch with Grunewald.

Maybe they are shocked because Dad is such a clodhopper of a dancer, or his table manners are bad; or Mother's hair-do is ancient. But years later when these same parents are beyond the reach of praise or blame their children will rise up and call them blessed.

One of the best ways for children to honor their parents is to keep the family name unsullied. Martin G. Brumbaugh was a noted Pennsylvania educator and was one-time governor of his state. His father kept a country store which was also the post office. Martin as a lad helped him. One day the village doctor came for his mail and as Martin handed out the package he looked the lad in the eye and said, "Martin, I have known your family in this valley for three generations. I have never known one of them to be intoxicated. See to it that you do not break the family record."

Looking back, Brumbaugh said, "It was the best temperance sermon I ever heard."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Tariff Rides A Storm

When the British or the Russians start a campaign in this country, there are always Americans to take up the slogans. When it is done for the Russians, it is subversive. But when the propaganda is to help the British, then the names are important and the organizations are outstanding.

For instance, at the present time the British are advocating the virtual abolition of the American tariff because that would help them, the British. The argument ought to be stated with great simplicity, namely, that the British want more trade — they add "not aid" to the slogan but that has not yet appeared in the facts. So, if the British want more trade, all we need to do is to abolish our tariff, let in their cheaper goods manufactured at lower wages, subsidized by American aid.

The CED — Committee for Economic Development — was originally founded by Paul Hoffman, the Marshall Plan almoner, who now heads the Fund for the Republic to which the Ford Foundation contributed $15,000,000 to find out why Communists are being investigated by congressional committees. The CED has come out with an expensively printed brochure to convince Americans that they ought to let European, meaning British, goods come in on a lower tariff.

Then Henry Ford II delivers a free trade speech to which I recently referred. Now comes David Rockefeller, senior vice president of the Chase National Bank, with a speech entitled "Toward Stable Prosperity in the Free World."

First of all, we need to define the term "the Free World." This is one of those loose expressions devised to give an impression that something exists which does not. Everybody uses it because it sounds good. Actually, except for the Benelux effort and the Schuman Plan, there is no unity of economic action among the non-Soviet countries. They are competing against each other in the markets that remain to them. If there is any unity of perspective, it is to drive the United States out of markets wherever possible, not only by lower prices, partially subsidized by American aid, but also by a continuing anti-American propaganda.

David Rockefeller, in a speech, said:

". . . The free world is now in a better position than at any time in the postwar period to move toward freeing trade and making currencies convertible. Nevertheless, there remain controls and restrictions which continue to hamper international trade and commerce. These must be dismantled in order to expand world trade and production. Notably, United States tariffs and trade restrictions must be reduced drastically and, in the dollar deficit areas, monetary reserves should be strengthened and internal inflation must be curbed . . ."

This is in line with the British proposals to our government made by Churchill and Eden when they were in this country. They did right to make the proposals because they were serving their country. But that does not mean that Americans need to accept them unless it serves the United States.

Is the United States in a position to reduce its tariffs drastically, to eliminate trade restrictions, to abolish the "Buy American" law, to underwrite the British pound without lowering wages, reducing the number of Americans employed, and without lowering the American standard of living?

No evidence has yet been produced to show that this is possible. What has been shown is that it would be a good thing for European exporting countries if this were done. And it would be a good thing for them, up to the moment that we moved into another depression. Then it would embarrass them as all aid to Europe would have to cease. Therefore, while from the short-sighted view, the destruction of the defenses of the American economy might aid Great Britain, in the long view it could be a disaster for all.

Mr. Rockefeller also said:

". . . we can't hope for military strength and political unity unless we can develop an economic policy that will produce rising living standards throughout the free world."

The facts are that we have actually been pouring billions of dollars of the earnings of the American people into Europe and Asia under the Marshall Plan, European military aid, Point Four, the subsidies to Germany and Japan — money that will never be returned to us.

How much more must we do before we go broke? David Rockefeller might read, to advantage, the Economic Legacy, which George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury, issued recently as a speech. That balance sheet is not very encouraging.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has just taken a look at the "last 100 days" of the Truman administration and also at the hodge-podge of commitments left him as a legacy from several other 100-day periods in the last few years when irresponsible, reckless and spendthrift government was rapidly driving the American economic system to the edge of bankruptcy.

"It has been the purpose of this administration," says Mr. Eisenhower, "ever since it took office, finding itself confronted with a crazy quilt of promises, commitments, and contracts, to bring American military logic and American economic logic into joint strong harness.

"No more glaring illustration of the lack of balance between the military logic and the economic logic could possibly be found than the situation that existed when we took office. On the one hand, we found our allies deploring our unfulfilled defense promises. On the other hand, we found there was a total carry-over of $81 billions in appropriated funds, largely committed, for which cash must be provided from revenues in future fiscal years, over and above the normal annual cost of government. It's just as if the late administration had gone to the store and ordered $81 billions of goods, which we've got to pay for as they're delivered, in addition to paying the regular household running expenses."

Hard To Tell

Small wonder that the President, even though he sees an 8½-billion-dollar saving for the fiscal year which begins July 1 next, can't see right now whether or when the budget can be balanced.

All sorts of plans are being made to tackle this part of "the Washington mess" from a new approach —trying to cut out waste in existing commitments and trying to get better quality and less quantity in military weapons. Also the "peak" year idea has been discarded in favor of a "stretch out" or gradual build-up of military strength — something that may, incidentally, avoid a sharp readjustment in business due to a drastically curtailed spending by the government in any one year.

Naturally, Mr. Eisenhower would like to prevent a continuance of irresponsible procurement of military supplies. He has offered to Congress a plan to reorganize the whole Department of Defense. Unfortunately, the subject is of such a complex nature and involves so directly the exercise of the legislative power by Congress, that the President would have been better advised to submit a draft of a new national defense law revising the present setup from top to bottom.

Congress is likely to turn thumbs down on the proposed "reorganization" plan because it is too vague and is unconstitutional. Congress has the duty under the Constitution to make laws regulating the armed services. This power cannot be delegated to a secretary of Defense. Nor can the President, who is elected by the people, delegate to an appointed cabinet member his duties of a "commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy," as prescribed in the Constitution.

The text of the reorganization plan permits the complete delegation of power also at any moment by the secretary of Defense to any one of his six assistants, even though Mr. Eisenhower in his foreword of explanation says that, "Without imposing themselves in the direct lines of responsibility and authority between the secretary of Defense and the secretaries of the three military departments, the assistant secretaries of Defense will provide the secretary with a continuing review of the programs of the defense establishment and help him institute major improvements in their execution."

Will Diffuse Authority

"Performance of functions: the secretary of Defense may from time to time make such provisions as he shall deem appropriate authorizing the performance by any other officer, or by any agency or employe, of the Department of Defense of any function of the secretary, including any function transferred to the secretary by the provisions of this reorganization plan."

It is contrary to the entire spirit of the defense laws of the past to delegate to any cabinet member authority over all the armed services and to let him delegate it to any subordinate he pleases whenever he pleases. Such a delegation of authority has never before been suggested in the history of America's armed services. Instead of concentrating responsibility, it will tend to diffuse authority and render still less important the posts of the secretaries of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.

What has happened is that originally the Air Force wanted to be separated from the Army. Out of two departments, three were created. Then came the drive for "unification." The Defense Department was established in response to a crusade for an over-all department that would co-ordinate all three armed services. Now, instead of "triplication," the result has been "quadruplication."

Rust-Resistant Pine Trees Being Shipped To This Area

Some 50 grafted white pine trees which have been carefully selected because of their resistance to white pine blister rust are being shipped from Wisconsin to District Forester William H. Johnson for experimental tests in Garrett County.

Arrangements for the shipment were made by Dr. G. F. Gravatt, senior plant pathologist for the Bureau of Plant Industry and Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Beltsville, in consultation with Dr. A. J. Ricker, plant pathologist of the University of Wisconsin.

Johnson said the trees were shipped from the Griffith State Nursery at Wisconsin Rapids. The forester hopes that experimentation with these trees will help in stamping out white pine blister rust which kills many trees in this area.

White pine blister rust is a disease which spreads from currant and gooseberry bushes to white pine trees. One of its peculiarities is that it does not spread from one white pine to another. It might spread from a white pine back to another currant or gooseberry bush.

The district forester said that for the last 20 years the State Department of Forests and Parks, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been attempting to control the disease in Western Maryland. In certain area of Garrett and Allegany Counties where the white pine trees are especially valuable, controlled areas have been cleared. However, it is a costly proposition to remove all currant and gooseberry bushes from near white pine trees.

This program will be continued this year until there is some assurance that the blight resistance trees are effective in this locality. An eradication crew will begin work Monday, May 11 removing bushes from near valuable white pines.

Rust-Resistant Pine Trees Being Shipped To This Area

Some 50 grafted white pine trees which have been carefully selected because of their resistance to white pine blister rust are being shipped from Wisconsin to District Forester William H. Johnson for experimental tests in Garrett County.

Arrangements for the shipment were made by Dr. G. F. Gravatt, senior plant pathologist for the Bureau of Plant Industry and Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Beltsville, in consultation with Dr. A. J. Ricker, plant pathologist of the University of Wisconsin.

Johnson said the trees were shipped from the Griffith State Nursery at Wisconsin Rapids. The forester hopes that experimentation with these trees will help in stamping out white pine blister rust which kills many trees in this area.

White pine blister rust is a disease which spreads from currant and gooseberry bushes to white pine trees. One of its peculiarities is that it does not spread from one white pine to another. It might spread from a white pine back to another currant or gooseberry bush.

The district forester said that for the last 20 years the State Department of Forests and Parks, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been attempting to control the disease in Western Maryland. In certain area of Garrett and Allegany Counties where the white pine trees are especially valuable, controlled areas have been cleared. However, it is a costly proposition to remove all currant and gooseberry bushes from near white pine trees.

This program will be continued this year until there is some assurance that the blight resistance trees are effective in this locality. An eradication crew will begin work Monday, May 11 removing bushes from near valuable white pines.

The area being demolished will also mark the line of the proposed new interstate bridge across the river which will replace the Blue Bridge.

Basilio Gets 18 Months On Morals Charge

Donald Basilio, 27, this city, was sentenced to 18 months in the House of Correction yesterday in Circuit Court by Associate Judge George Henderson on one of two morale charges to which he had pleaded guilty last week.

Basilio, who returned here from Florida where he had gone following investigation into the case by the state's attorney's office, also received a two-year suspended sentence on the second of the two morals charges. The court ordered that he be placed on parole for two years after completion of his sentence in the House of Correction.

Basilio was involved in morals cases involving several teen-age girls.

When the case was called Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Basilio made a plea for his client. He said the young man graduated from high school here and following two years service as a gunner aboard a B-29 in World War II he completed a college course. He had been employed as a teacher when the charges were first placed against him last November.

Ryan told the court his client was repentant and wished to rehabilitate himself. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher told the court he had no comments to make concerning the case as the court was familiar with the facts.

Basilio was involved in morals cases involving several teen-age girls.

When the case was called Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Basilio made a plea for his client. He said the young man graduated from high school here and following two years service as a gunner aboard a B-29 in World War II he completed a college course. He had been employed as a teacher when the charges were first placed against him last November.

Ryan told the court his client was repentant and wished to rehabilitate himself. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher told the court he had no comments to make concerning the case as the court was familiar with the facts.

At 2:15 p. m. Monday Rev. T. B. Pierce, district superintendent from Springfield, Va., will be guest speaker during the opening ceremony.

"Get acquainted" services will be held Tuesday through Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Strickland will be in charge of the May 5 and May 6 service while Rev. Derrick Hilleary, who recently returned from Ceylon, India, will be speaker at the services May 8 to May 10, with a special missionary service on the evening of May 10.

Rev. Wigfield, who has been pastor of the church for the past four years, said construction of the auditorium got underway in mid-July of last year.

Most of the work was accomplished by members of the congregation with Irwin White, local contractor, supervisor of the heavier construction work.

The inside of the structure is of natural finish oak and two large Gothic stained glass windows are located in the front of the brick building with square stained glass windows on the sides. Rev. Wigfield said a new Hammond Organ was recently purchased by the church.

The new auditorium measures about 36 feet by 60 feet. Prior to completion of the new addition, Rev. Wigfield said church services and Sunday School were conducted in the basement of the building.

Escapees Held In Keyser Jail

Keyser authorities early yesterday morning apprehended three teenagers and after questioning them discovered that they were escapees from the Beaumont (Va.) Training School for Boys.

The three youths, James Nester, Henry Beasley and John Leighton, all 17, were arrested after the registration card in the vehicle revealed that it was owned by a James H. Dunkin, of Cumberland.

When brought to the station, the youths admitted they had escaped earlier this week from the Virginia institution and had stolen three cars in making their way to Keyser, police said.

In a statement to Chief Harry Gift, the trio confessed to stealing a car in Beaumont after their escape and driving it to Richmond, Va., where it was abandoned after running out of gas. There they admitted to stealing another vehicle and driving it to Alexandria, Va., when it ran out of gas. Another car was stolen in Alexandria and it was driven to Cumberland, where it was abandoned on Water Street and the Dunkin vehicle stolen.

A representative of the Virginia institution is expected in Keyser late today to escort the group back to Beaumont.

Dunkle New Superintendent Of Calvert County Schools

OAKLAND, Md. (AP)—Maurice A. Dunkle, principal of Southern High School here, will take over June 1 as superintendent of schools in Calvert County where teachers went without pay for a time earlier this year because the school budget had been overspent.

Dunkle's acceptance of the post was announced by R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of Garrett County schools.

Dunkle will replace Harry R. Hughes, ousted Calvert superintendent who faces an indictment on charges of embezzlement of $500.

The shortage was found last month when a check of school finances resulted from a report Calvert County teachers were not being paid on time.

The check showed the school system had overspent its budget, largely for construction by about $400,000. However, this phase of the board's financial problems had no connection with the indictment against Hughes.

Authorities said Hughes had been unable to account in his bookkeeping for $500 representing part of $1,002 repaid to the county by an instructor to whom the school system advanced money for the purchase of a car.

Dunkle, previously principal of Chesapeake City High School in Cecil County, holds a bachelor of science degree from Allegheny College.

He received his masters from Columbia University and has been working on his doctorate from Penn State, the University of Delware and Temple University.

Dunkle was principal of Oakland High School last year and became principal of the new Southern school when it opened last fall.

Thomas V. Baucom, administrative assistant at Southern High school, will continue in the same position but will also carry out the duties of the principal, Hardesty stated. In the meantime, Hardesty said he was conducting interviews to try to find the best person available for the job.

Most of the work was accomplished by members of the congregation with Irwin White, local contractor, supervisor of the heavier construction work.

The inside of the structure is of natural finish oak and two large Gothic stained glass windows are located in the front of the brick building with square stained glass windows on the sides. Rev. Wigfield said a new Hammond Organ was recently purchased by the church.

The new auditorium measures about 36 feet by 60 feet. Prior to completion of the new addition, Rev. Wigfield said church services and Sunday School were conducted in the basement of the building.

Escapees Held In Keyser Jail

Keyser authorities early yesterday morning apprehended three teenagers and after questioning them discovered that they were escapees from the Beaumont (Va.) Training School for Boys.

The three youths, James Nester, Henry Beasley and John Leighton, all 17, were arrested after the registration card in the vehicle revealed that it was owned by a James H. Dunkin, of Cumberland.

When brought to the station, the youths admitted they had escaped earlier this week from the Virginia institution and had stolen three cars in making their way to Keyser, police said.

In a statement to Chief Harry Gift, the trio confessed to stealing a car in Beaumont after their escape and driving it to Richmond, Va., where it was abandoned after running out of gas. There they admitted to stealing another vehicle and driving it to Alexandria, Va., when it ran out of gas. Another car was stolen in Alexandria and it was driven to Cumberland, where it was abandoned on Water Street and the Dunkin vehicle stolen.

A representative of the Virginia institution is expected in Keyser late today to escort the group back to Beaumont.

Dunkle New Superintendent Of Calvert County Schools

OAKLAND, Md. (AP)—Maurice A. Dunkle, principal of Southern High School here, will take over June 1 as superintendent of schools in Calvert County where teachers went without pay for a time earlier this year because the school budget had been overspent.

Dunkle's acceptance of the post was announced by R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of Garrett County schools.

Dunkle will replace Harry R. Hughes, ousted Calvert superintendent who faces an indictment on charges of embezzlement of $500.

The shortage was found last month when a check of school finances resulted from a report Calvert County teachers were not being paid on time.

The check showed the school system had overspent its budget, largely for construction by about $400,000. However, this phase of the board's financial problems had no connection with the indictment against Hughes.

Authorities said Hughes had been unable to account in his bookkeeping for $500 representing part of $1,002 repaid to the county by an instructor to whom the school system advanced money for the purchase of a car.

Dunkle, previously principal of Chesapeake City High School in Cecil County, holds a bachelor of science degree from Allegheny College.

He received his masters from Columbia University and has been working on his doctorate from Penn State, the University of Delware and Temple University.

Dunkle was principal of Oakland High School last year and became principal of the new Southern school when it opened last fall.

Thomas V. Baucom, administrative assistant at Southern High school, will continue in the same position but will also carry out the duties of the principal, Hardesty stated. In the meantime, Hardesty said he was conducting interviews to try to find the best person available for the job.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mrs. Meyers Denies Charge That Group Is Subversive

Mrs. Alice Meyers, wife of one of the six Maryland Communists sent to jail as Smith Act violators, has denied that Families of the Baltimore Smith Act Victims is subversive.

The organization and the Baltimore Forum have been nominated for the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations.

Mrs. Meyers, chairman of the group, made this statement about the listing:

"It was a complete surprise to read that the attorney general proposes to add to his list of subversive organizations the name of the families of the Baltimore Smith Act Victims.

"Our purpose is to assist the families of those political prisoners jailed under the Smith Act. This is our only purpose.

"This attempt to smear the families committee is an outrage to our organization and any organization whose primary function is to help in time of need."

The "second-level six" were convicted of violating the Smith Act by advocating overthrow of the government by force and violence and were sentenced by Judge W. Calvin Chesnut on April 4, 1952.

Mrs. Meyers said her organization was set up to take care of the nine children of the convicted Communists, to help pay the rent and the food bills and to provide traveling expenses to the prisons.

She said money was raised through pamphlet appeals, social affairs such as house parties and "any other way we can think of." Membership is limited to the families involved, she indicated.

These were the sentences given the "second-level" six and the Federal prisoners where they are serving terms:

PHILIP FRANKFELD, Moscow-trained Communist, five years (the maximum) and $1,000, Atlanta.

REGINA FRANKFELD (his wife), two years and $1,000, Alderson, W. Va.

GEORGE A. MEYERS, Frankfeld's successor as head of the Communist party in Maryland, four years and $1,000, plus 30 days for contempt of court, Petersburg, Va.

LEROY H. WOOD, three years and $1,000, Ashland, Ky.

MRS. DOROTHY ROSE BLUMBERG, three years and $1,000, Alderson.

The attorney general has announced that new organizations proposed for his list may protest and get a hearing. Mrs. Meyers said the families committee "will certainly" protest and demand a hearing.

The other organization—the Baltimore Forum — remains vague, with all recorded participants denying they ever heard of it.

Tornado Dust Falls In Rain Here

Motorists who left their cars parked in the open Thursday night found them covered with a liberal sprinkling of a brownish dust yesterday morning.

Weather observers believe the rainfall Thursday night was accompanied by a dust fall. Charles Owens, smoke abatement inspector for Cumberland, said the dust was probably blown into this area as a result of the tornado in Georgia Thursday night.

Owens explained that the tornado was probably blown into this area as a dust storm in the air and when it reached this area the rainfall brought it to earth.

Lack Of Students Closes Trade School Branch Here

Allegany Trade School has been forced to close down its Merchandise Mart branch due to lack of students and is operating only the Paca Street branch, it was revealed today by the Allegany County Board of Education.

School officials stated that the supply of World War II veterans is practically exhausted and Korean vets are as yet not applying in large numbers for the trade school courses.

Trains GIs, Civilians

The school has obtained permission to train civilians who do not come under the GI Bill program of either war. The difference to the individual is that the GI gets his way paid by the government and the civilian pays his own way. In either case both groups receive expert instruction, it is said.

The lack of students caused the Allegany Trade School to close down its Maryland Avenue branch some months ago. Here radio, electronics, electricity and television were taught. Carpentry, bricklaying and other subjects in this line were taught at the Merchandise Mart branch.

The lone school remaining, the one on Paca Street, instructs students in machine shop practice and auto mechanics. Nineteen students are enrolled in the course under two instructors.

Expansion Possible

Ira Northcraft, director of the Paca Street branch, said that more instructors would be needed, should additional students apply. The government requires a minimum class of 15 to operate a school.

Thus far the Allegany Trades School has graduated approximately 350, and also approximately 1,100 students have attended the classes. Many of the students found work in the fields for which they were being trained and did not complete the course for graduation.

New students, both veterans and civilians, may apply for entrance to the school any day.

Twelve Slated To Start In 79th Kentucky Derby Today

Native Dancer Seeks Twelfth Straight Win

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, May 1 (AP) — The names of 12 horses were dropped into the entry box today for the 79th running of the $100,000-added Kentucky Derby and the vital question is whether the unbeaten Native Dancer can make this victory No. 12.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's grey colt and Social Outcast, a stablemate, are expected to be established an odds-on choice when the field parades to the post tomorrow, but it didn't scare off the owners of 10 other horses.

The experts were picking the speedy California colt, Correspondent, as most likely to succeed if anyone is to halt the hitherto invincible Dancer in this one mile and a quarter classic.

Eric Guerin, Louisiana jockey who has ridden the Vanderbilt star in all 11 of his victories, will be out to see that a grey horse wins the nation's most colorful race for the first time.

Arcaro Seeks 6th

Correspondent, owned by Mrs. Gordon Guiberson of La Jolla, Calif., will have the services of Eddie Arcaro, who makes a specialty of winning derbies. He has won five, more than any other rider.

Perhaps no derby in recent years has attracted the attention of this one, and the usual crowd of 100,000-plus will be on hand. In addition, the race will be on a nationwide television network, from 4 to 4:45 p.m. EST. and on radio 4:15-4:45 p.m., both CBS. Post time is 4:30 p.m.

Texans Favor Gem

Texas pockets are bulging with fat bankrolls to slap down on Royal Bay Gem, stretch-running fool from the stable of Eugene Constantin, Jr. of Dallas.

Plenty of support also will go to Dark Star, from the Cain Hoy stable of Harry F. Guggenheim, New York, and the Greentree stable's Straight Face. Dark Star came close to the track record in winning the one mile Derby Trial Tuesday. Straight Face copped the $100,000 Flamingo last winter.

The others in the field are:

Ace Destroyer, owned by T. M. Daniel, Birmingham; Ram O'War, Bruce S. Campbell, Towson, Md.; Invigorator, Saxon stable of John Allison, El Paso, Tex., and Max Prestridge, Alamagordo, N. M.; Spy Defense, owned by the Dixiana farm of Charles T. Fisher, Detroit; Curragh King, Edward Goemans, Milwaukee; and Money Broker, and G. and G. stable of P. A. Grissom and Ed Grosfield, Detroit.

Entry Listed At 3-5

The Churchill Downs mutuels department program odds line on the field listed Native Dancer and Social Outcast as the 3 to 5 favorites, and made Correspondent, spectacular winner of the Blue Grass Stakes, next at 4 to 1.

Royal Bay Gem, winner of the Chesapeake Stakes, is down at 6 to 1, Dark Star 8 to 1, and Straight Face and Money Broker 15-1. Others were quoted at 20 and 30 to 1, for the program, but when the crowd starts to work on the mutuels prices on some may soar to 100-1.

Strip Could Be Fast

The weatherman promised considerable cloudiness and cooler, with scattered thundershowers ending in the morning. Partly cloudy, with temperatures in the mid-60's was forecast for the afternoon.

Track conditions will have a lot to do with the race. Rains last night left the strip muddy today, but it could be fast by tomorrow afternoon if no more moisture falls.

Wall And Douglas Tied With 141s In Mexico City Golf

MEXICO CITY, May 1 (AP) — Ben Hogan, irked by purring movie cameras, continued to have trouble with his putting today but Art Wall of Honesdale, Pa., improved his game and pushed into a tie for first place in the $15,000 Pan American Open golf tournament.

Hogan, of Palm Springs, Calif., shot a par 72 on the 7,400-yard Mexico Golf Club course to bring his two-day score to 144. He is tied for fourth with Douglas Higgins of Fort Worth, Tex., who shot a second round 71.

Still in the lead, tied with Wall, was Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., with a 69-72—141.

Margarito Martinez, the Mexico City caddy who shot a blistering 69 on opening day and tied Douglas for the first day lead, blew up. He shot an 81 today for a total of 150.

The 70 by Wall and Wally Ulrich of Hopkins, Minn., was the best score turned in today. Ulrich had an opening day 75.

COOMBS WITH A'S

DURHAM, N. C.—John W. (Jack) Coombs, Duke University baseball coach for 24 years before retiring is now working for the Philadelphia Athletics, with whom he was a star pitcher in the early 1900's. Coombs will serve in an advisory capacity to several minor league clubs connected with the A's.

They'll Be Riding for Fame and Fortune in Kentucky Derby

Ted Atkinson

Eddie Arcaro

Johnny Adams

Eric Guerin

AMONG THE JOCKEYS who will ride in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs today are the four veterans pictured. Eddie Arcaro already has won five derbies to lead the all-time list. Eric Guerin, above the favorite, Native Dancer, won with Jet Pilot in 1947. Johnny Adams and Ted Atkinson still haven't cracked the magic circle with a Derby win.

As You Were

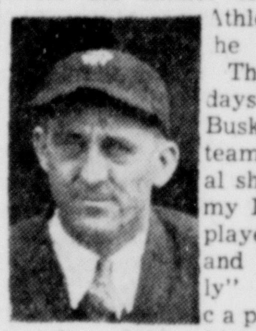
This well liked fellow was the regular keystone sacker of many of the winning teams that played under the banner of the Liberty Athletic Club in the 1920s.



That was in the days when Joe Buskey was the team's sensational shortstop, Jimmy Drenning played third base and Walter "Dolly" Bittner was captain and guardian of the initial hassock. The club had such classy outfielders as Lee Ginniman, Allan Underdonk, Irvin "Tommy" Thomas and Bill Cretchley while Arlie Driscoll was the first string receiver and Charley Duckworth, Joe Zapf, Ray Baker, "Red" Robertson and Cretchley were the standout pitchers.

Paul K. Collins and Irvin "Cogs" Hamilton piloted the L.A.C. early teams and the player pictured here also managed the team before it disbanded.

This club was very popular in its heydey and outdrew the Colts who then were playing at South End Park. The Rolling Mill Field was its home diamond and the games on Saturdays and Sundays attracted large crowds.

The L.A.C.'s best season was 1921 when it won 45 of 53 games.

Memories of the old L.A.C. will linger long with followers of the team from Maryland Avenue. The players always will remember Missouri Jack Rhodes' Place on Williams Street, the team's hangout, and the fresh air taxicabs operated by "Pop" Jenkins and his son Fred for the team's road trips.

This player got into the Western Maryland-Legion championship series one year and won the deciding game for the railroaders with a home run.

What's his name?

Staley Is Victor Over Giants, 3-2

NATIONAL

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Gerry Staley allowed the feeble New York Giants only six hits today while St. Louis evened an old score with Dave Koslo, a persistent jinx pitcher, with a 3-2 victory.

Three runs in the third on four straight singles after two were out did the trick. It was the third Cardinal win on their unbeaten eastern tour.

Al Dark's two-run homer in the second gave Koslo an early lead that soon slipped through his fingers.

Joe Wolfe paced the Frostburg stickers with three hits in four official trips while Jimmy Byrnes and Cain smacked out two blows each. Everly obtained two of Hagerstown's five safeties.

McEllhenny was charged with the defeat and Birmingham got credit for the victory.

Richards And Minoso Fined By Harridge

CHICAGO, May 1 — (INS) — American League President Will Harridge fined White Sox Manager Paul Richards and Sox outfielder Minnie Minoso $100 each today for arguing with umpires during yesterday's game with the New York Yankees at Comiskey Park.

Both men were ejected from the game—Richards in the fourth inning, and Minoso in the fifth.

Harridge said that no suspensions was meted out because it was the season's first offense for both men. He warned, however, that "no further leniency will be shown."

Harridge refused to comment on reports in a Chicago newspaper that league umpires are favoring the Yankees.

Lynn Registers TD, Alumni Wins, 20-13

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 1 (AP) — Jack Scarbath, All-America quarterback who steered Maryland to national glory during his varsity career, showed tonight he still has the touch as he led an alumni football squad to a 20-13 victory over the varsity before an estimated 8,000 fans.

The Baltimore split-T magician, faking the youngsters dizzy, passed three yards to Lou Weidensaul for the winning touchdown in the third period after scoring once himself and engineering another successful drive in the opening quarter.

Lynn Beightol, young pre-med student from Cumberland, Md., was the varsity star as he sparked his mates to second-period score which enabled them to gain a 13-13 halftime tie.

Hyndman High School maintained its half-game lead in the torrid Bi-State Conference pennant race yesterday by notching its fourth consecutive victory at the expense of Flintstone's Aggies in a game played at Flintstone. The score was 8-3.

Flintstone held the league leaders on even terms until the final frame when Coach McVicker's aggregation exploded for five runs to break a 3-3 deadlock. The big blow in the 7th stanza was struck by Robeson who hit for the circuit with two aboard.

Lefty Lou Hite, who relieved May in the 6th, received credit for the win, his third against a single loss. Jamison and Hite of Hyndman and Fletcher of Flintstone garnered two hits each.

Allegany High School's Campers stayed right on the heels of the leaders by taking the measure of Bruce High School at Campobello, 11 to 6.

Harry Iser Wins Third

Harry Iser, the Campers' undefeated hurler, posted win No. 3 but was nicked for 11 safeties, three of which were credited to Bobby Shimer.

Charles "Chuck" Eirich, Allegany centerfielder, had a perfect day at the plate with a three-run homer and three singles in four trips. The Campers batted Dave Marple out of the box and continued their attack on Paul Haywood who finished for the Bulldogs. Iser fanned nine and Marple whiffed eight.

Fort Hill High School suffered its third straight defeat at Frostburg where Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers downed the Sentinels, 8-3.

Richard Beats Sentinels

Tommy Richards limited the Hilltoppers to four hits and pitched shutout ball until the final inning when Perdew smacked a triple with two aboard and scored on a mild throw to the plate by Poland. Richards issued only one free ticket and struck out nine in registering his third victory of the campaign.

Wayne Murray, who pitched the first 2 2-3 innings, was charged with the loss. Dickel and McGregor finished on the hillock for Fort Hill.

Bill Murray and Morgan shared four of Beall's six safeties.

Central Pounds Ball

Coach Johnny Meyers' Central High Tigers made it three in a row by handing Mt. Savage its fifth successive reverse at Mt. Savage by the score of 10-2.

The Lonaconing swatsmiths, paced by Getson and Woods, rapped Bobby Blank for 10 hits and took advantage of 10 fielding miscues charged against the home team. Getson and Woods collected three hits each.

Jack Brodie got credit for the win, his third of the season. He toiled five innings and retired in favor of Cuthbertson with Central leading by a comfortable margin. Brodie and Cuthbertson fanned nine batsmen and yielded six hits.

Kickers' Tourney Scheduled At CCC

Men golfers of the Cumberland Country Club will participate in a kickers handicap tournament today and tomorrow.

Twelve Slated To Start In 79th Kentucky Derby Today

Native Dancer Seeks Twelfth Straight Win

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, May 1 (AP) — The names of 12 horses were dropped into the entry box today for the 79th running of the $100,000-added Kentucky Derby and the vital question is whether the unbeaten Native Dancer can make this victory No. 12.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's grey colt and Social Outcast, a stablemate, are expected to be established an odds-on choice when the field parades to the post tomorrow, but it didn't scare off the owners of 10 other horses.

The experts were picking the speedy California colt, Correspondent, as most likely to succeed if anyone is to halt the hitherto invincible Dancer in this one mile and a quarter classic.

Eric Guerin, Louisiana jockey who has ridden the Vanderbilt star in all 11 of his victories, will be out to see that a grey horse wins the nation's most colorful race for the first time.

Arcaro Seeks 6th

Correspondent, owned by Mrs. Gordon Guiberson of La Jolla, Calif., will have the services of Eddie Arcaro, who makes a specialty of winning derbies. He has won five, more than any other rider.

Perhaps no derby in recent years has attracted the attention of this one, and the usual crowd of 100,000-plus will be on hand. In addition, the race will be on a nationwide television network, from 4 to 4:45 p.m. EST. and on radio 4:15-4:45 p.m., both CBS. Post time is 4:30 p.m.

Texans Favor Gem

Texas pockets are bulging with fat bankrolls to slap down on Royal Bay Gem, stretch-running fool from the stable of Eugene Constantin, Jr. of Dallas.

Plenty of support also will go to Dark Star, from the Cain Hoy stable of Harry F. Guggenheim, New York, and the Greentree stable's Straight Face. Dark Star came close to the track record in winning the one mile Derby Trial Tuesday. Straight Face copped the $100,000 Flamingo last winter.

The others in the field are:

Entry Listed At 3-5

The Churchill Downs mutuels department program odds line on the field listed Native Dancer and Social Outcast as the 3 to 5 favorites, and made Correspondent, spectacular winner of the Blue Grass Stakes, next at 4 to 1.

Royal Bay Gem, winner of the Chesapeake Stakes, is down at 6 to 1, Dark Star 8 to 1, and Straight Face and Money Broker 15-1. Others were quoted at 20 and 30 to 1, for the program, but when the crowd starts to work on the mutuels prices on some may soar to 100-1.

Strip Could Be Fast

The weatherman promised considerable cloudiness and cooler, with scattered thundershowers ending in the morning. Partly cloudy, with temperatures in the mid-60's was forecast for the afternoon.

Track conditions will have a lot to do with the race. Rains last night left the strip muddy today, but it could be fast by tomorrow afternoon if no more moisture falls.

MEXICO CITY, May 1 (AP) — Ben Hogan, irked by purring movie cameras, continued to have trouble with his putting today but Art Wall of Honesdale, Pa., improved his game and pushed into a tie for first place in the $15,000 Pan American Open golf tournament.

Hogan, of Palm Springs, Calif., shot a par 72 on the 7,400-yard Mexico Golf Club course to bring his two-day score to 144. He is tied for fourth with Douglas Higgins of Fort Worth, Tex., who shot a second round 71.

Still in the lead, tied with Wall, was Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., with a 69-72—141.

Margarito Martinez, the Mexico City caddy who shot a blistering 69 on opening day and tied Douglas for the first day lead, blew up. He shot an 81 today for a total of 150.

The 70 by Wall and Wally Ulrich of Hopkins, Minn., was the best score turned in today. Ulrich had an opening day 75.

COOMBS WITH A'S

DURHAM, N. C.—John W. (Jack) Coombs, Duke University baseball coach for 24 years before retiring is now working for the Philadelphia Athletics, with whom he was a star pitcher in the early 1900's. Coombs will serve in an advisory capacity to several minor league clubs connected with the A's.

They'll Be Riding for Fame and Fortune in Kentucky Derby

Ted Atkinson — Eddie Arcaro — Johnny Adams — Eric Guerin

AMONG THE JOCKEYS who will ride in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs today are the four veterans pictured. Eddie Arcaro already has won five derbies to lead the all-time list. Eric Guerin, above the favorite, Native Dancer, won with Jet Pilot in 1947. Johnny Adams and Ted Atkinson still haven't cracked the magic circle with a Derby win.

As You Were

This well liked fellow was the regular keystone sacker of many of the winning teams that played under the banner of the Liberty Athletic Club in the 1920s.

That was in the days when Joe Buskey was the team's sensational shortstop, Jimmy Drenning played third base and Walter "Dolly" Bittner was captain and guardian of the initial hassock. The club had such classy outfielders as Lee Ginniman, Allan Underdonk, Irvin "Tommy" Thomas and Bill Cretchley while Arlie Driscoll was the first string receiver and Charley Duckworth, Joe Zapf, Ray Baker, "Red" Robertson and Cretchley were the standout pitchers.

Paul K. Collins and Irvin "Cogs" Hamilton piloted the L.A.C. early teams and the player pictured here also managed the team before it disbanded.

This club was very popular in its heydey and outdrew the Colts who then were playing at South End Park. The Rolling Mill Field was its home diamond and the games on Saturdays and Sundays attracted large crowds.

The L.A.C.'s best season was 1921 when it won 45 of 53 games.

Memories of the old L.A.C. will linger long with followers of the team from Maryland Avenue. The players always will remember Missouri Jack Rhodes' Place on Williams Street, the team's hangout, and the fresh air taxicabs operated by "Pop" Jenkins and his son Fred for the team's road trips.

This player got into the Western Maryland-Legion championship series one year and won the deciding game for the railroaders with a home run.

What's his name?

Staley Is Victor Over Giants, 3-2

NATIONAL

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Gerry Staley allowed the feeble New York Giants only six hits today while St. Louis evened an old score with Dave Koslo, a persistent jinx pitcher, with a 3-2 victory.

Three runs in the third on four straight singles after two were out did the trick. It was the third Cardinal win on their unbeaten eastern tour.

Al Dark's two-run homer in the second gave Koslo an early lead that soon slipped through his fingers.

Richards And Minoso Fined By Harridge

CHICAGO, May 1 — (INS) — American League President Will Harridge fined White Sox Manager Paul Richards and Sox outfielder Minnie Minoso $100 each today for arguing with umpires during yesterday's game with the New York Yankees at Comiskey Park.

Both men were ejected from the game—Richards in the fourth inning, and Minoso in the fifth.

Harridge said that no suspensions was meted out because it was the season's first offense for both men. He warned, however, that "no further leniency will be shown."

Harridge refused to comment on reports in a Chicago newspaper that league umpires are favoring the Yankees.

Beightol Stars But Terps Lose

Lynn Registers TD, Alumni Wins, 20-13

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 1 (AP) — Jack Scarbath, All-America quarterback who steered Maryland to national glory during his varsity career, showed tonight he still has the touch as he led an alumni football squad to a 20-13 victory over the varsity before an estimated 8,000 fans.

The Baltimore split-T magician, faking the youngsters dizzy, passed three yards to Lou Weidensaul for the winning touchdown in the third period after scoring once himself and engineering another successful drive in the opening quarter.

Lynn Beightol, young pre-med student from Cumberland, Md., was the varsity star as he sparked his mates to second-period score which enabled them to gain a 13-13 halftime tie.

Hyndman High School maintained its half-game lead in the torrid Bi-State Conference pennant race yesterday by notching its fourth consecutive victory at the expense of Flintstone's Aggies in a game played at Flintstone. The score was 8-3.

Flintstone held the league leaders on even terms until the final frame when Coach McVicker's aggregation exploded for five runs to break a 3-3 deadlock. The big blow in the 7th stanza was struck by Robeson who hit for the circuit with two aboard.

Lefty Lou Hite, who relieved May in the 6th, received credit for the win, his third against a single loss. Jamison and Hite of Hyndman and Fletcher of Flintstone garnered two hits each.

Allegany High School's Campers stayed right on the heels of the leaders by taking the measure of Bruce High School at Campobello, 11 to 6.

Harry Iser Wins Third

Harry Iser, the Campers' undefeated hurler, posted win No. 3 but was nicked for 11 safeties, three of which were credited to Bobby Shimer.

Charles "Chuck" Eirich, Allegany centerfielder, had a perfect day at the plate with a three-run homer and three singles in four trips. The Campers batted Dave Marple out of the box and contined their attack on Paul Haywood who finished for the Bulldogs. Iser fanned nine and Marple whiffed eight.

Fort Hill High School suffered its third straight defeat at Frostburg where Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers downed the Sentinels, 8-3.

Richard Beats Sentinels

Tommy Richards limited the Hilltoppers to four hits and pitched shutout ball until the final inning when Perdew smacked a triple with two aboard and scored on a mild throw to the plate by Poland. Richards issued only one free ticket and struck out nine in registering his third victory of the campaign.

Wayne Murray, who pitched the first 2 2-3 innings, was charged with the loss. Dickel and McGregor finished on the hillock for Fort Hill.

Bill Murray and Morgan shared four of Beall's six safeties.

Central Pounds Ball

Coach Johnny Meyers' Central High Tigers made it three in a row by handing Mt. Savage its fifth successive reverse at Mt. Savage by the score of 10-2.

The Lonaconing swatsmiths, paced by Getson and Woods, rapped Bobby Blank for 10 hits and took advantage of 10 fielding miscues charged against the home team. Getson and Woods collected three hits each.

Jack Brodie got credit for the win, his third of the season. He toiled five innings and retired in favor of Cuthbertson with Central leading by a comfortable margin. Brodie and Cuthbertson fanned nine batsmen and yielded six hits.

Mrs. Meyers Denies Charge That Group Is Subversive

Mrs. Alice Meyers, wife of one of the six Maryland Communists sent to jail as Smith Act violators, has denied that Families of the Baltimore Smith Act Victims is subversive.

The organization and the Baltimore Forum have been nominated for the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations.

Mrs. Meyers, chairman of the group, made this statement about the listing:

"It was a complete surprise to read that the attorney general proposes to add to his list of subversive organizations the name of the families of the Baltimore Smith Act Victims.

"Our purpose is to assist the families of those political prisoners jailed under the Smith Act. This is our only purpose.

"This attempt to smear the families committee is an outrage to our organization and any organization whose primary function is to help in time of need."

The "second-level six" were convicted of violating the Smith Act by advocating overthrow of the government by force and violence and were sentenced by Judge W. Calvin Chesnut on April 4, 1952.

Mrs. Meyers said her organization was set up to take care of the nine children of the convicted Communists, to help pay the rent and the food bills and to provide traveling expenses to the prisons.

She said money was raised through pamphlet appeals, social affairs such as house parties and "any other way we can think of." Membership is limited to the families involved, she indicated.

These were the sentences given the "second-level" six and the Federal prisoners where they are serving terms:

PHILIP FRANKFELD, Moscow-trained Communist, five years (the maximum) and $1,000, Atlanta.

REGINA FRANKFELD (his wife), two years and $1,000, Alderson, W. Va.

GEORGE A. MEYERS, Frankfeld's successor as head of the Communist party in Maryland, four years and $1,000, plus 30 days for contempt of court, Petersburg, Va.

LEROY H. WOOD, three years and $1,000, Ashland, Ky.

MRS. DOROTHY ROSE BLUMBERG, three years and $1,000, Alderson.

The attorney general has announced that new organizations proposed for his list may protest and get a hearing. Mrs. Meyers said the families committee "will certainly" protest and demand a hearing.

The other organization—the Baltimore Forum — remains vague, with all recorded participants denying they ever heard of it.

Tornado Dust Falls In Rain Here

Weather observers believe the rainfall Thursday night was accompanied by a dust fall. Charles Owens, smoke abatement inspector for Cumberland, said the dust was probably blown into this area as a result of the tornado in Georgia Thursday night.

Owens explained that the tornado was probably blown into this area as a dust storm in the air and when it reached this area the rainfall brought it to earth.

Lack Of Students Closes Trade School Branch Here

Allegany Trade School has been forced to close down its Merchandise Mart branch due to lack of students and is operating only the Paca Street branch, it was revealed today by the Allegany County Board of Education.

School officials stated that the supply of World War II veterans is practically exhausted and Korean vets are as yet not applying in large numbers for the trade school courses.

Trains GIs, Civilians

The school has obtained permission to train civilians who do not come under the GI Bill program of either war. The difference to the individual is that the GI gets his way paid by the government and the civilian pays his own way. In either case both groups receive expert instruction, it is said.

The lack of students caused the Allegany Trade School to close down its Maryland Avenue branch some months ago. Here radio, electronics, electricity and television were taught. Carpentry, bricklaying and other subjects in this line were taught at the Merchandise Mart branch.

The lone school remaining, the one on Paca Street, instructs students in machine shop practice and auto mechanics. Nineteen students are enrolled in the course under two instructors.

Expansion Possible

Ira Northcraft, director of the Paca Street branch, said that more instructors would be needed, should additional students apply. The government requires a minimum class of 15 to operate a school.

Thus far the Allegany Trades School has graduated approximately 350, and also approximately 1,100 students have attended the classes. Many of the students found work in the fields for which they were being trained and did not complete the course for graduation.

New students, both veterans and civilians, may apply for entrance to the school any day.

Bubbley Takes Kentucky Oaks

Cerise Reine Second, Arab Actress Third

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (AP)—Bubbley, filly star of Calumet Farm's Devil Red Stable, bounced to the front in the closing strides to win the Kentucky Oaks, filly counterpart of the Kentucky Derby today.

Real Delight circled the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5 last year. Bubbley did it in exactly the same time today.

Bubbley returned $4 to win and $2.60 both to place and to show. In a freak of the totalizator board, Cerise Reine paid only $2.80 to place but $3.20 to show. Arab Actress was worth $10.80 on the show end.

NEW YORK, April (INS)—There have been owners who started horses in the Kentucky Derby with no hope of winning but merely for the pleasure of seeing their silks in the famed run for the roses.

There have been others who started what appeared to be hopeless long shots and collected when their outsiders came down in front.

And the prize of all these long shot specials was Donnerail which, under the able handling of Roscoe Goose, won the 1913 renewal and paid off at a juicy $184.90 for each and every deuce invested.

It is pay-offs like this which keep hope springing eternal in the hearts of hoss players. We don't know how much hope or faith owner T. P. Hayes may have had in Donnerail but if he had enough to bet a few bob he must have needed a suitcase to carry home his dough.

Then there was the noted case of Brokers Tip in 1933. Col. Ed Bradley who owned the hoss was a gambler who liked to send it in in chunks when he thought he was right.

With Jockey Don Meade in the irons, the colt came breezing home at about 9 to 1 and you may be sure that both Bradley and Meade did all right for themselves.

The Kentucky Derby, believe it or not, was the only race that Brokers Tip ever won!

It may be that Bradley gave some of that cabbage back in 1940 when his great colt Bimelech ran second to Mrs. Ethel Mars' Gallahadion.

There were only eight starters in this derby but so little did the punters think of his chances that he was sent away at 35 to 1 and at 35 to 1 he came bouncing back to the winner's circle and the horseshoe of roses.

You old timers will recall that Sande had won the first of his three derbys on Harry Sinclair's Zev. That was in 1923.

You also will remember that he was seriously hurt during the running of a race at Saratoga in 1924 and it was feared that he would never ride again.

He had no mount scheduled for the 1925 Derby and he went around looking miserable and despondent.

Jockey Bruening had the mount on Quatrain, the favorite, and so desperate was Sande that he tried to induce Bruening to sell him the chance to ride the colt. Bruening merely laughed at poor Sande.

Then some friends of Sande's induced Gifford Cochran, a wealthy man, to start his colt Flying Ebony and let Sande ride him, although Cochran and everybody else knew the colt had positively no chance.

Twenty horses started in the race and if Flying Ebony hadn't been placed in the field he would have gone off at 100 to 1 or better.

Well, you know what happened. Sande came tearing down the stretch to win with Flying Ebony but the pay-off was only a little better than 3 to 1.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It may have been Nero who started the sun glass habit. He used an emerald to decrease glare as he watched the lions feast on his enemies in the arena. At any rate, sun glasses have since been mentioned throughout history. Back into Marco Polo's time the Chinese are reputed to have worn eye-shading quartz lenses framed with bamboo. And Henry VIII was so delighted with his metal rimmed smoked glasses that he wore them indoors. The court, of course, followed suit and sun glasses became the fashion.

With their present handsome styling, their fashion and flattery value reaches new peaks. Even a woman who selects a pair at random gets a great deal for her money. But to receive your full return, choose sun specs that flatter your face and pick up your costume.

Fashion Accessory

This is no great task. Variety of shape and style provide enhancement for every face type and the color scope makes it easy to harmonize your glasses and costume. Low cost makes it possible to own several pairs. Exact information on frames that flatter is available to you in our free booklet, "Glasses that Adorn." Mailing instructions are given at the end of this column.

To make a fashion accessory of your sun glasses, here are a few suggestions: For all beige costumes worn with gold jewelry (now so high in fashion's favor) demi-amber frames winged across the brow with gold metal are stunners.

Casual And Terrace Wear

Bright, monotone casuals and beachwear take to gay gingham-patterned and candy-striped frames. A pearly translucent rim, run through with golden spider webs, is ideal for pearly pastels. To accompany straw cloth fashions, there are "straw" laminations. For any sun-fun occasion, the handsome specs with the wide-windowed temple pieces shut out glare from all sides.

No feminine glance can afford to miss the allure with late-day frocks, country or city in type, of the dainty "lorgnette" shaped rim or an arched frame garnished with a cluster of flowers at one side.

All of this goes to prove that when you shop for sun glasses, you should come home with a lot of glamour as well as comfort in your package. Getting your share is up to you.

GLASSES THAT ADORN

Wear your glasses as a smart accessory. Choose rims that are the most interesting shape for your face. This special leaflet is yours for the asking. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Daily Bridge Lesson

REPUTATION CAN HURT

WHEN you play in a sizeable bridge contest, either a tournament or a duplicate party of a number of tables, you are likely to encounter players of widely varying degrees of skill and experience. If you are perhaps a bit above the average present and decide to strain for a complete victory, perhaps making a psychic bid or two along the way, whom would you be likely to pick as the opposition for it? A weak pair, an average pair or a star pair?

The bright young man sitting in the West seat had just about made up his mind to bid either 4-Clubs or 5-Clubs on his holding, as an effort at a shutout bid, when he heard South open with 1-Spade. That caused him to put on his thinking cap and wonder what would be the probable final contract at other tables He thought of making a psychic bid of hearts or No Trumps before showing his clubs.

Then he got a bright idea. He was up against a very famous pair, who would never think he had the nerve to make a bold psychic bid against their reputation. So all at once the 4-Spade bid entered his mind. The result of that was devastating. It made North think his own partner had made a psychic bid, so he passed. South then decided all the rest of the spades were bunched with West, so he too passed.

West took only one trick, with dummy's spade A. The defenders set him nine, at 50 a trick, for a score of 450. At every other table North and South reached 6-Spades, making the contract, or else played against 7-Clubs as a sacrifice, beating it 700 for down four doubled. So West's imaginative action won him top on the hand.

He is now a believer in using psychic bids only against pairs that he thinks are stronger than his own. When against weaker pairs, he is satisfied to be sound and match clearcut skill with theirs.

Oh, yes—West would have shifted to 5-Clubs if he had been doubled.

Your Weekend Question

If you hold the ace, king and one or two little cards of the long suit led against your No Trump contract, under what circumstances should you let the opponents win the first trick?

Young GI Has Tearful, Happy Family Reunion

The following story is a detailed account of the homecoming of one of the first Americans repatriated from a Red prison camp in Korea. An Associated Press newsman and photographer were assigned to stay with the family of Cpl. Donald Legay and report his homecoming as representatives of the first prisoner of war returnees.)

By SAUL PETT

BOSTON—(AP)—It was a time to look away.

Cpl. Donald Legay had just stepped off the plane which returned him home from 29 months of captivity in North Korea.

His mother, Mrs. Walter Legay, moved toward the ramp, crying, "Donald, oh Donald."

Weary, confused and fighting back his own tears, the liberated prisoner finally fell into his mother's arms.

And it was a time to look away.

And when you looked back, the handsome, hazel-eyed GI was still locked in his mother's embrace.

His father had an arm around him. His younger sister, Gloria, and brothers James and Joseph touched his shoulder.

After a long wait—it's been 11 days since the Legays had heard their boy was coming through the freedom gate—they finally sighted the plane bringing him on the last leg of his 9,000-mile journey home.

It was 5:25 p.m. Mrs. Legay began to shiver and her eyes misted. Gloria tugged at her sleeve and said: "Take it easy, ma."

Her mother wrenched loose and said softly: "Oh, mind your business."

The plane rolled up to the apron, where the soldier's family, friends, photographers, reporters and civic leaders of Donald's native Leominster were waiting. Four men held up a banner saying: "Welcome Home."

Behind them stood a bright new convertible—a gift from his townsfolk to the liberated prisoner.

While the plane was still rolling slowly, Donald waved from the window. Catching their first glimpse of their son in the more than three years since he went overseas, his mother and father began to move forward prematurely. But the strong propeller backwash of the four-motored plane stopped them.

The ship finally halted. The Legays and the press moved toward the ramp. First to come down were some civilians carrying brief cases. Then women with hat boxes, obviously wondering what all the fuss was about.

Another pause. Then the plane's crew. Another, long pause.

Finally the young soldier appeared. Somebody shouted "Here he comes."

His mother trembled murmuring his name. Her son started down the ramp. Half way down photographers made him pause. Finally there were no other delays and Donald literally plunged over the last few steps into his mother's arms.

The cameras and microphones moved in while Mrs. Legay held tightly to her son's right hand. His left hand was crooked. The arm had suffered shrinkage and stiffness from wounds which Communist doctors didn't treat until the last four months of his imprisonment.

Answering reporters, Donald said he felt "fine—tired, confused but fine."

Somebody asked about home cooking. "Oh, that strawberry shortcake," the GI yelled. His mother assured him it was waiting. And they hugged again.

Bubbley Takes Kentucky Oaks

Cerise Reine Second, Arab Actress Third

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (AP)—Bubbley, filly star of Calumet Farm's Devil Red Stable, bounced to the front in the closing strides to win the Kentucky Oaks, filly counterpart of the Kentucky Derby today.

Real Delight circled the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5 last year. Bubbley did it in exactly the same time today.

Bubbley returned $4 to win and $2.60 both to place and to show. In a freak of the totalizator board, Cerise Reine paid only $2.80 to place but $3.20 to show. Arab Actress was worth $10.80 on the show end.

NEW YORK, April (INS)—There have been owners who started horses in the Kentucky Derby with no hope of winning but merely for the pleasure of seeing their silks in the famed run for the roses.

There have been others who started what appeared to be hopeless long shots and collected when their outsiders came down in front.

And the prize of all these long shot specials was Donnerail which, under the able handling of Roscoe Goose, won the 1913 renewal and paid off at a juicy $184.90 for each and every deuce invested.

It is pay-offs like this which keep hope springing eternal in the hearts of hoss players. We don't know how much hope or faith owner T. P. Hayes may have had in Donnerail but if he had enough to bet a few bob he must have needed a suitcase to carry home his dough.

Then there was the noted case of Brokers Tip in 1933. Col. Ed Bradley who owned the hoss was a gambler who liked to send it in in chunks when he thought he was right.

With Jockey Don Meade in the irons, the colt came breezing home at about 9 to 1 and you may be sure that both Bradley and Meade did all right for themselves.

The Kentucky Derby, believe it or not, was the only race that Brokers Tip ever won!

It may be that Bradley gave some of that cabbage back in 1940 when his great colt Bimelech ran second to Mrs. Ethel Mars' Gallahadion.

There were only eight starters in this derby but so little did the punters think of his chances that he was sent away at 35 to 1 and at 35 to 1 he came bouncing back to the winner's circle and the horseshoe of roses.

But our favorite Kentucky Derby story concerns Earl Sande, the Eddie Arcaro of his day, the colt Flying Ebony and his owner Gifford Cochran.

You old timers will recall that Sande had won the first of his three derbys on Harry Sinclair's Zev. That was in 1923.

You also will remember that he was seriously hurt during the running of a race at Saratoga in 1924 and it was feared that he would never ride again.

He had no mount scheduled for the 1925 Derby and he went around looking miserable and despondent.

Jockey Bruening had the mount on Quatrain, the favorite, and so desperate was Sande that he tried to induce Bruening to sell him the chance to ride the colt. Bruening merely laughed at poor Sande.

Then some friends of Sande's induced Gifford Cochran, a wealthy man, to start his colt Flying Ebony and let Sande ride him, although Cochran and everybody else knew the colt had positively no chance.

Twenty horses started in the race and if Flying Ebony hadn't been placed in the field he would have gone off at 100 to 1 or better.

Well, you know what happened. Sande came tearing down the stretch to win with Flying Ebony but the pay-off was only a little better than 3 to 1.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It may have been Nero who started the sun glass habit. He used an emerald to decrease glare as he watched the lions feast on his enemies in the arena. At any rate, sun glasses have since been mentioned throughout history. Back into Marco Polo's time the Chinese are reputed to have worn eye-shading quartz lenses framed with bamboo. And Henry VIII was so delighted with his metal rimmed smoked glasses that he wore them indoors. The court, of course, followed suit and sun glasses became the fashion.

With their present handsome styling, their fashion and flattery value reaches new peaks. Even a woman who selects a pair at random gets a great deal for her money. But to receive your full return, choose sun specs that flatter your face and pick up your costume.

Fashion Accessory

This is no great task. Variety of shape and style provide enhancement for every face type and the color scope makes it easy to harmonize your glasses and costume. Low cost makes it possible to own several pairs. Exact information on frames that flatter is available to you in our free booklet, "Glasses that Adorn." Mailing instructions are given at the end of this column.

To make a fashion accessory of your sun glasses, here are a few suggestions: For all beige costumes worn with gold jewelry (now so high in fashion's favor) demi-amber frames winged across the brow with gold metal are stunners.

Casual And Terrace Wear

Bright, monotone casuals and beachwear take to gay gingham-patterned and candy-striped frames. A pearly translucent rim, run through with golden spider webs, is ideal for pearly pastels. To accompany straw cloth fashions, there are "straw" laminations. For any sun-fun occasion, the handsome specs with the wide-windowed temple pieces shut out glare from all sides.

No feminine glance can afford to miss the allure with late-day frocks, country or city in type, of the dainty "lorgnette" shaped rim or an arched frame garnished with a cluster of flowers at one side.

All of this goes to prove that when you shop for sun glasses, you should come home with a lot of glamour as well as comfort in your package. Getting your share is up to you.

GLASSES THAT ADORN

Wear your glasses as a smart accessory. Choose rims that are the most interesting shape for your face. This special leaflet is yours for the asking. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

REPUTATION CAN HURT

WHEN you play in a sizeable bridge contest, either a tournament or a duplicate party of a number of tables, you are likely to encounter players of widely varying degrees of skill and experience. If you are perhaps a bit above the average present and decide to strain for a complete victory, perhaps making a psychic bid or two along the way, whom would you be likely to pick as the opposition for it? A weak pair, an average pair or a star pair?

	North

West ♠ 5 ♥ None ♦ 9 7 4 ♣ Q J 9 8 6 5 4 3 2	N W E S	East ♠ A 7 6 2 ♥ J 9 7 5 ♦ Q 8 5 3 ♣ K
	♠ K Q 10 8 ♥ A 10 4 2 ♦ A 6 2 ♣ 10 7

The bright young man sitting in the West seat had just about made up his mind to bid either 4-Clubs or 5-Clubs on his holding, as an effort at a shutout bid, when he heard South open with 1-Spade. That caused him to put on his thinking cap and wonder what would be the probable final contract at other tables. He thought of making a psychic bid of hearts or No Trumps before showing his clubs.

Then he got a bright idea. He was up against a very famous pair, who would never think he had the nerve to make a bold psychic bid against their reputation. So all at once the 4-Spade bid entered his mind. The result of that was devastating. It made North think his own partner had made a psychic bid, so he passed. South then decided all the rest of the spades were bunched with West, so he too passed.

West took only one trick, with dummy's spade A. The defenders set him nine, at 50 a trick, for a score of 450. At every other table North and South reached 6-Spades, making the contract, or else played against 7-Clubs as a sacrifice, beating it 700 for down four doubled. So West's imaginative action won him top on the hand.

He is now a believer in using psychic bids only against pairs that he thinks are stronger than his own. When against weaker pairs, he is satisfied to be sound and match clearcut skill with theirs.

Oh, yes—West would have shifted to 5-Clubs if he had been doubled.

Your Weekend Question

If you hold the ace, king and one or two little cards of the long suit led against your No Trump contract, under what circumstances should you let the opponents win the first trick?

Young GI Has Tearful, Happy Family Reunion

The following story is a detailed account of the homecoming of one of the first Americans repatriated from a Red prison camp in Korea. An Associated Press newsman and photographer were assigned to stay with the family of Cpl. Donald Legay and report his homecoming as representatives of the first prisoner of war returnees.)

By SAUL PETT

BOSTON—(AP)—It was a time to look away.

Cpl. Donald Legay had just stepped off the plane which returned him home from 29 months of captivity in North Korea.

And it was a time to look away.

And when you looked back, the handsome, hazel-eyed GI was still locked in his mother's embrace.

His father had an arm around him. His younger sister, Gloria, and brothers James and Joseph touched his shoulder.

After a long wait—it's been 11 days since the Legays had heard their boy was coming through the freedom gate—they finally sighted the plane bringing him on the last leg of his 9,000-mile journey home.

It was 5:25 p.m. Mrs. Legay began to shiver and her eyes misted. Gloria tugged at her sleeve and said: "Take it easy, ma."

Her mother wrenched loose and said softly: "Oh, mind your business."

The plane rolled up to the apron, where the soldier's family, friends, photographers, reporters and civic leaders of Donald's native Leominster were waiting. Four men held up a banner saying: "Welcome Home."

Behind them stood a bright new convertible—a gift from his townsfolk to the liberated prisoner.

While the plane was still rolling slowly, Donald waved from the window. Catching their first glimpse of their son in the more than three years since he went overseas, his mother and father began to move forward prematurely. But the strong propeller backwash of the four-motored plane stopped them.

The ship finally halted. The Legays and the press moved toward the ramp. First to come down were some civilians carrying brief cases. Then women with hat boxes, obviously wondering what all the fuss was about.

Another pause. Then the plane's crew. Another, long pause.

His mother trembled murmuring his name. Her son started down the ramp. Half way down photographers made him pause. Finally there were no other delays and Donald literally plunged over the last few steps into his mother's arms.

The cameras and microphones moved in while Mrs. Legay held tightly to her son's right hand. His left hand was crooked. The arm had suffered shrinkage and stiffness from wounds which Communist doctors didn't treat until the last four months of his imprisonment.

Answering reporters, Donald said he felt "fine—tired, confused but fine."

Somebody asked about home cooking. "Oh, that strawberry shortcake," the GI yelled. His mother assured him it was waiting. And they hugged again.

ARE THE CLOUDS BREAKING?

No one doubts that we are living in troubled times. Few generations have faced such a constant threat of war; none has known such appalling weapons of destruction. A storm of terror threatens to engulf the world.

Yet, there are some who see signs that the clouds may be breaking. They point to crowded churches . . . Sunday Schools with record enrollment . . . tremendous demand for the new translation of the Bible. They reason that such concern for the spiritual realities of life is certain to have effect on the course of our history.

Whether we share their optimism or not, there is no denying the premise on which it is based. Though we cannot read the future, we can read the past. Man's hope of peace and happiness, in national and in personal life, has always rested upon spiritual foundations.

People who want the peace of God must turn to God to find it!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ARE THE CLOUDS BREAKING?

No one doubts that we are living in troubled times. Few generations have faced such a constant threat of war; none has known such appalling weapons of destruction. A storm of terror threatens to engulf the world.

Yet, there are some who see signs that the clouds may be breaking. They point to crowded churches . . . Sunday Schools with record enrollment . . . tremendous demand for the new translation of the Bible. They reason that such concern for the spiritual realities of life is certain to have effect on the course of our history.

Whether we share their optimism or not, there is no denying the premise on which it is based. Though we cannot read the future, we can read the past. Man's hope of peace and happiness, in national and in personal life, has always rested upon spiritual foundations.

People who want the peace of God must turn to God to find it!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 1 (INS) — One of the hottest actors in New York, Barry Jones, star of "Misalliance," a revival of George Bernard Shaw's play, arrives in our town May 16 — for a movie, of course.

Jones, who leaves the cast, will play the role of Claudius in "Dimetrius," a sequel to "The Robe" for 20th Century-Fox. He'll have with him Victor Mature, whose scene as Dimetrious at the crucifixion of Christ in "The Robe," is one of the best pieces of acting we have had in our town in many a day.

Susan Hayward plays the feminine lead in "Dimetrious" and the picture starts May 18.

All of a sudden Jeanne Crain turns out to be one of the top glamor girls in this town. Maybe it's the bob cat haircut and those earrings. I thought she was one of the most glamorous stars at the Cinerama opening, and all the top stars were there.

In "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," which will take Jeanne and Mary Anita and Richard Sale to Europe, she'll have David Wayne as her co-star. And Richard, who directs and producers, tells me that he has signed Mike Frankovitch as executive producer. More important, they have a sizeable bankroll with which to work.

Not in the history of our motion picture business has any one actress won as many awards as Shirley Booth.

Shirley has captured the Cannes Film Festival award for the best performance in "Come Back, Little Sheba," and the picture itself was voted the best. She won the New York Film Critics award, the Academy Award, and, for her stage performance, the Antoinette Perry honor.

If there's a happier girl in the whole world than Ann Blythe I'd like to know who she is. She is sooo in love and right now her whole life is centering around her June 27 wedding to Dr. James McNulty.

For the traditional "something old" Ann will wear a pearl locket which belonged to her mother; for "something new" it will be her wedding gown designed by Helen Rose; "something borrowed" is a lace handkerchief from her stand-in; and "something blue"—get this—are satin and lace garters adorned by tiny bags of rice!

Looks like we're going to have a fight between Bavini, head movie man with the Indian government, and Gabriel Pascal. Gabriel sends word that whether Bavini likes it or not he's going to make the life of Gandhi and that he has written permission from Nehru.

Miss Parsons Crowned Fort Hill May Queen

Sherrell Parsons yesterday afternoon was crowned Fort Hill High School May Queen of 1952 during ceremonies held at the school auditorium.

The crowning by Donna Rowan was part of a pageant staged by the Fort Hill Players and featured singing, dances and instrumental music.

The Union Trucking Company of Grantsville was fined $212.75 for overloading during the period between April 4 to 11. It was the firm's second conviction for overloading trucks on state highways since last July.

Hearing Set Monday In Armed Robbery

Two men held in the county jail on charges of armed robbery will receive hearings in Circuit Court on Monday at 9:15 a.m.

They are Floyd Monroe Fisher, 38, and Kenneth Strayer, 27, both of Philadelphia. The men are charged holding up a gas station attendant in Frostburg several weeks ago at the point of a gun. They were nabbed by State Police near Uniontown, Pa., not long after the incident.

Fisher also faces a charge of breach of prison. He and three other prisoners broke out of the county jail last Saturday night. Fisher was arrested two nights later by a Western Maryland Railway police officer on the Baltimore Street bridge. The other three had surrendered earlier in the day.

Airman Third Class Wallace F. Malamphy, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Malamphy, 28 Carpenter Avenue, Ridgeley, is home on a 30-day rotation leave from duty with the Air Force in the Far East.

Airman Malamphy, who recently arrived in the states after 17 months service in Japan, will report to Hunter Air Force Base, Savannah, Ga., at the termination of his leave. He is a veteran of six and a half years service with the Air Force.

He attended Ridgeley High School prior to entering the service and is married to the former Miss Mary Zimmerman of Ridgeley. They are the parents of a 14-months-old daughter.

The Pirates and Tigers are following form (eighth place finishers, that's their form). The air is filled with flying spheres that wring from the fans, excited cheers. Yep, spring's sprung with all of its joys for fascinated 8 to 80 boys. Need we ask what's the reason? Right you are, it's baseball season. So, it's hits, runs and errors all over the park . . . for games in daylight and games after dark. Box scores are scanned with jaundiced eye, as each passing game goes fleeting bye. You've caught the fever? Well, so have we. Come on down and join us in a baseball spree!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 1 (INS) — One of the hottest actors in New York, Barry Jones, star of "Misalliance," a revival of George Bernard Shaw's play, arrives in our town May 16 — for a movie, of course.

Jones, who leaves the cast, will play the role of Claudius in "Dimetrius," a sequel to "The Robe" for 20th Century-Fox. He'll have with him Victor Mature, whose scene as Dimetrious at the crucifixion of Christ in "The Robe," is one of the best pieces of acting we have had in our town in many a day.

Susan Hayward plays the feminine lead in "Dimetrious" and the picture starts May 18.

All of a sudden Jeanne Crain turns out to be one of the top glamor girls in this town. Maybe it's the bob cat haircut and those earrings. I thought she was one of the most glamorous stars at the Cinerama opening, and all the top stars were there.

In "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," which will take Jeanne and Mary Anita and Richard Sale to Europe, she'll have David Wayne as her co-star. And Richard, who directs and producers, tells me that he has signed Mike Frankovitch as executive producer. More important, they have a sizeable bankroll with which to work.

Not in the history of our motion picture business has any one actress won as many awards as Shirley Booth.

Shirley has captured the Cannes Film Festival award for the best performance in "Come Back, Little Sheba," and the picture itself was voted the best. She won the New York Film Critics award, the Academy Award, and, for her stage performance, the Antoinette Perry honor.

If there's a happier girl in the whole world than Ann Blythe I'd like to know who she is. She is sooo in love and right now her whole life is centering around her June 27 wedding to Dr. James McNulty.

For the traditional "something old" Ann will wear a pearl locket which belonged to her mother; for "something new" it will be her wedding gown designed by Helen Rose; "something borrowed" is a lace handkerchief from her stand-in; and "something blue"—get this—are satin and lace garters adorned by tiny bags of rice!

Looks like we're going to have a fight between Bavini, head movie man with the Indian government, and Gabriel Pascal. Gabriel sends word that whether Bavini likes it or not he's going to make the life of Gandhi and that he has written permission from Nehru.

Says Gabriel, "I registered the priority of the title 'Mahatma Gandhi' with the Motion Picture Association of America, and no one can use this title while I am alive—and I intend to live at least until I am 125."

American Business Piles Up 10 Per Cent More Profits

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—American business appears to be piling up 10 per cent more profits than a year ago — and about as much as it did two years ago.

The first 386 companies to report net income after taxes for the first three months of this year show their combined profits 10 per cent higher than the first quarter of 1952 — which was about that much below the 1951 period.

Nearly three-fourths of the reporting companies are running ahead of last year. A year ago two-thirds of the companies were running behind their 1951 earnings. This year 101 companies dropped behind — 10 operated in the red, the same number as a year ago.

The best group showings this year are by the airlines, aircraft and retail — each has profits three times as large as a year ago. Others that are doing much better than a year ago are: appliances, up 45 per cent; food, up 34 per cent; beverages, up 22 per cent; textiles and cement, each up 20 per cent; and motors up 19 per cent.

Groups falling behind include: coal, down 59 per cent; drugs, down 7 per cent; and oil, down 3 per cent. Groups which have the largest percentage of firms falling behind include: coal, oil, steel, mining, business machines and drugs.

The reports of 386 companies, of course, is only a sampling. Final figures may change the picture.

And the accounting is confused because some companies figure their excess profits tax on a full year basis, and others on a half-year basis, expecting it to lapse in June. If it expires on schedule, some company earnings will look even brighter.

Rails show a 19 per cent gain as a whole, to lead the major divisions. Utilities are up 10 per cent, and industrials are up 9 per cent.

American Business Piles Up 10 Per Cent More Profits

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—American business appears to be piling up 10 per cent more profits than a year ago — and about as much as it did two years ago.

The first 386 companies to report net income after taxes for the first three months of this year show their combined profits 10 per cent higher than the first quarter of 1952 — which was about that much below the 1951 period.

Nearly three-fourths of the reporting companies are running ahead of last year. A year ago two-thirds of the companies were running behind their 1951 earnings. This year 101 companies dropped behind — 10 operated in the red, the same number as a year ago.

The best group showings this year are by the airlines, aircraft and retail — each has profits three times as large as a year ago. Others that are doing much better than a year ago are: appliances, up 45 per cent; food, up 34 per cent; beverages, up 22 per cent; textiles and cement, each up 20 per cent; and motors up 19 per cent.

Groups falling behind include: coal, down 59 per cent; drugs, down 7 per cent; and oil, down 3 per cent. Groups which have the largest percentage of firms falling behind include: coal, oil, steel, mining, business machines and drugs.

And the accounting is confused because some companies figure their excess profits tax on a full year basis, and others on a half-year basis, expecting it to lapse in June. If it expires on schedule, some company earnings will look even brighter.

Rails show a 19 per cent gain as a whole, to lead the major divisions. Utilities are up 10 per cent, and industrials are up 9 per cent.

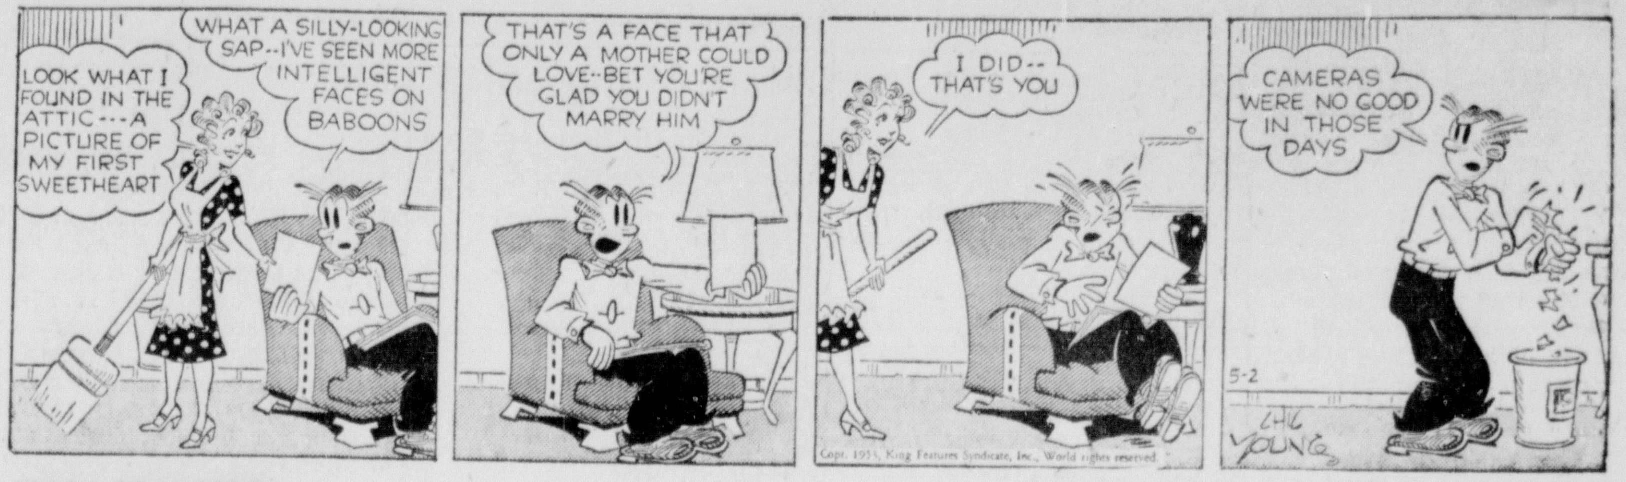
BLONDIE

By CHIC YOUNG



LOOK WHAT I FOUND IN THE ATTIC---A PICTURE OF MY FIRST SWEETHEART
THAT'S A FACE THAT ONLY A MOTHER COULD LOVE--BET YOU'RE GLAD YOU DIDN'T MARRY HIM
I DID-- THAT'S YOU
CAMERAS WERE NO GOOD IN THOSE DAYS

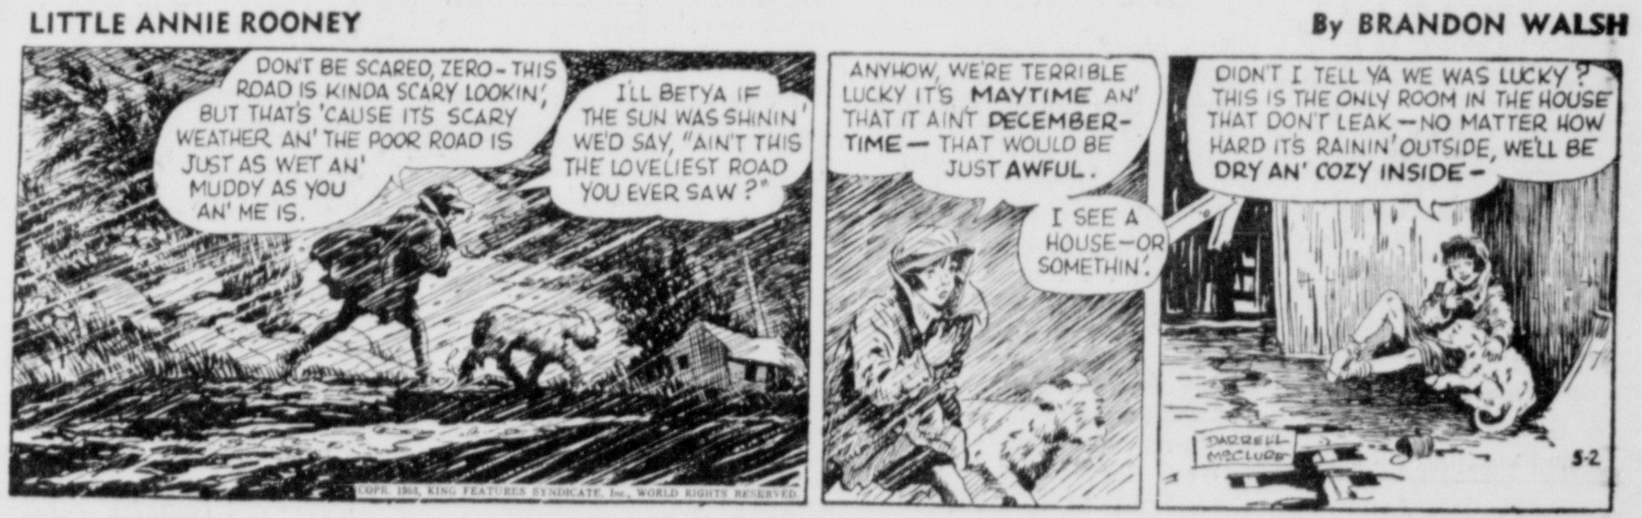
By BRANDON WALSH



DON'T BE SCARED, ZERO - THIS ROAD IS KINDA SCARY LOOKIN', BUT THAT'S 'CAUSE IT'S SCARY WEATHER AN' THE POOR ROAD IS JUST AS WET AN' MUDDY AS YOU AN' ME IS.
I'LL BETYA IF THE SUN WAS SHININ' WE'D SAY, "AIN'T THIS THE LOVELIEST ROAD YOU EVER SAW ?"
ANYHOW, WE'RE TERRIBLE LUCKY IT'S MAYTIME AN' THAT IT AIN'T DECEMBER-TIME — THAT WOULD BE JUST AWFUL.
I SEE A HOUSE—OR SOMETHIN'.
DIDN'T I TELL YA WE WAS LUCKY ? THIS IS THE ONLY ROOM IN THE HOUSE THAT DON'T LEAK — NO MATTER HOW HARD IT'S RAININ' OUTSIDE, WE'LL BE DRY AN' COZY INSIDE —

WHY, CERTAINLY YOU CAN WEAR THOSE OVERALLS HOME, AND I'LL CARRY THE DRESSES
DAD'S NEVER SEEN ME IN OVERALLS.
DO YOU THINK HE'LL LIKE THEM?
IF HE DOESN'T HE'LL PUT UP A HOLLER.
MY GOODNESS! WE DON'T WANT THAT TO HAPPEN.
THAT'S ALL RIGHT! HE'LL NOT REALLY MIND WHEN HE SEES THE DRESSES TOO!

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for their help and kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of Harold E. Messman, Sr. We also wish to thank Rev. Jacob Snyder for his comforting help, those who loaned cars for the funeral, those who sent floral tributes and sent expressions of sympathy.

Mrs. Harold E. Messman, Sr., & family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Harry W. Ambrose, who passed away four years ago, May 2, 1949.

Two lonely years have passed away,
Since our great sorrow fell.
The shock that we received that day,
We still remember well.
God gave us strength to face the shock
And courage to carry the blow,
But what it means to miss you,
God will only know.

Sadly missed and remembered by your loving WIFE, CHILDREN & GRANDCHILDREN.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for their help and kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of Harold E. Messman, Sr. We also wish to thank Rev. Jacob Snyder for his comforting help, those who loaned cars for the funeral, those who sent floral tributes and sent expressions of sympathy.
Mrs. Harold E. Messman, Sr., & family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Harry W. Ambrose, who passed away four years ago, May 2, 1949.

Two lonely years have passed away,
Since our great sorrow fell.
The shock that we received that day,
We still remember well.
God gave us strength to face the shock
And courage to carry the blow,
But what it means to miss you,
God will only know.

Sadly missed and remembered by your loving WIFE, CHILDREN & GRANDCHILDREN.

City Planning Ordinance For RR Crossings

Would Be Divided Into Three Classes

Copies of data to be included in a proposed crossing ordinance for the City of Cumberland have been distributed to the Mayor and City Council.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said city officials will be asked to comment on the proposals before any attempt is made to draft the final form.

Officials indicated no action is planned on the ordinance for at least 10 days to two weeks.

In general, the ordinance divides crossings within the city into three classes.

Subsection (a) states that railroads whose main line tracks cross Harrison, Union, Baltimore, Frederick and Bedford Street are required to provide at all hours a competent watchman to warn those using the crossing of the approach of trains and engines.

Subsection (b) states that railroads whose main lines cross Knox, Valley, Pear and Franklin Streets are required to provide at all times a competent watchman or automatic crossing gates which shall be coordinated, at the railroad's expense, with any traffic system installed by the city on Henderson Avenue.

Subsection (c) says that at other crossings, railroads must either keep a watchman on duty or install automatic crossing gates, automatic flashing signals, or have a trainman precede trains to warn users of the approach of railroad trains or engines.

Under subsection (d), the requirements for crossing watchman protection on crossings named in subsection (a) may, by agreement between the Mayor and Council and the railroad, be eliminated upon the substitution of automatic crossing gates, automatic flashing signals or another type of approved crossing protection.

The final section (e) provides fines of $10 daily for railroads which fail to comply with the ordinance, and a fine of not more than $10 for persons failing to obey watchmen or warning devices.

Will Provide Data

Mayor Eves said yesterday he had conferred with William E. Lyons, Pattersons Creek, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, concerning the proposal.

The mayor said he assured Lyons that the city will provide the Brotherhood's committee with all the facts and figures on the proposal before any action is being taken by the city.

The Brotherhood is reported to be protesting the substitution of automatic crossing gates at Knox, Valley, Pear and Franklin Streets since it would displace 16 watchmen.

At a conference with the Mayor and Council on April 20, B. and O. officials gave virtual assurance the men had sufficient seniority to hold their jobs by bumping.

Cite Traffic Counts

B & O officials said traffic over the four westerly crossings is only about half that on Baltimore, Frederick and Bedford Streets since St. Louis traffic is routed over the viaduct.

According to a rough count by the B. and O., about 5,000 pedestrians and 10,000 vehicles cross the Baltimore Street crossing each day.

Other counts, not taken on the same day, showed 1,903 vehicles and 82 trains at the Frederick Street crossing and 2,614 vehicles and 121 trains at Bedford Street.

Counts made at Knox Street showed 1,142 vehicles and 41 trains; Valley, 2,194 vehicles and 42 trains; Pear, 541 vehicles and 42 trains and Franklin, 1,404 vehicles and 41 trains.

The last four crossings, which the railroad wants to equip with automatic crossing gate signal systems, are used only by Pittsburgh Division trains.

1,550 Truck Plates Sold At Court House

Although midnight Thursday was the deadline for operation of trucks without new Maryland license plates, Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat at the Court House reported that he sold over 70 more plates to operators of privately-owned trucks yesterday.

Since April 1 he has disposed of about 1,550 compared with about 1,300 in the same period a year ago. Meanwhile he still is selling six or eight automobile license plates a day to owners of new cars and others who did not make their purchase before March 31.

Pa. Police Drop Charges Against Cumberland Man

Pennsylvania authorities have withdrawn charges against Raymond H. Bittner, 42, of 212 Greene Street, who was accused of receiving stolen goods in connection with a jewelry store robbery last year.

Local authorities yesterday received a letter from Justice of the Peace Stephen McGanka, of Conemaugh, Pa. (Cambria County) informing them Prosecutor John F. Carrol had dropped the charge.

The local businessman was released the following Monday under $2,500 bond in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Following his arrest Bittner asked for counsel. Two law officers from Pennsylvania came here to question him and returned without the prisoner.

Two other men apprehended in the robbery case are serving prison terms. Authorities said the pair admitted giving their loot to another man named "McLaughlin" who turned it over to a third man. Bittner's profit in the case was reported to have been about $1,000, police said.

Couple Injured In Auto Crash

A retired Army colonel and his wife were hospitalized here yesterday after their car skidded out of control and struck an embankment on Town Hill.

State Police said Levin H. Arnett and his wife, Mrs. Willie Mae Arnett, of 5931 Atlantic Boulevard, Jacksonville, Fla., were admitted to Sacred Heart hospital, but were not in serious condition.

Trooper James F. Lewis said Mrs. Arnett was driving down the west slope of Town Hill 11 miles east of Flintstone at about 11:45 a. m. when her car skidded out of control on the west pavement.

The vehicle careened across the road, struck an embankment and threw Arnett from the car. It hit the bank several more times before coming to rest against a guard rail.

Whitworth Gets Added Backing On Arrest Plan

Del. Dempsey Favors Probe Into Practice

BALTIMORE (AP)—More backing came yesterday for the proposal to have the Legislative Council study police practices in holding prisoners for questioning.

Del. Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd) said he supports the request of Del. Whitworth Jr. (R-Allegany) for the council to look into the matter.

No Justification

He said he could see no justification for holding a man for questioning for nearly a week, and without benefit of counsel.

Whitworth's call for a probe came when Allegany County authorities held a man six days without charge. He was questioned in connection with the unsolved murder of Mrs. Odessa Frances Meister, Cumberland housewife and textile worker. She was last seen on Dec. 20 and authorities found her bludgeoned body nearly a month later on a wooded slope in East Cumberland.

The man was finally released after his lawyer threatened to go to court for a habeas corpus action.

Whitworth attacked what he called "gestapo methods" used by the Allegany County state's attorney's office.

Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th), council president, has not indicated what action the research group may take on Whitworth's request.

Assailed Methods

In a letter to the Legislative Council, written at the suggestion of former Judge Joseph Sherbow of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City and Senator Della, Whitworth assailed the Gestapo-like methods used by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher's forces in their investigation of Mrs. Meister's murder.

"It is not enough to say," Whitworth stated in his letter, "that such people are involved in serious crimes or at least suspected of them, and it is not enough to say that they are unimportant people.

"What is important to me as a private citizen of Allegany County is the fact that such methods are unAmerican and completely foreign to our whole system of judicial administration. I realize the importance and necessity of apprehending criminals, but for the protection of all the people against a police state, our Constitution provided for the orderly democratic procedure in apprehending criminals in order to protect the innocent.

"It will not be the answer to say: Take out a writ of habeas corpus; because all too frequently such persons kept in such illegal custody and restraint are without friends, usually without money and have no knowledge of their rights.

"In order to stamp out such un-American practices it is necessary in my judgment, to make such action a crime and to punish those who participate in such doings in the future."

Yesterday's ceremonies began at 2 p. m. with the fourth through 13th degrees being conferred prior to dinner at 6:30 at the temple. The 14th degree work was completed last night at the temple beginning at 8 p. m.

Speed, Stubbornness Cause Many Accidents

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—A state police analysis of the nearly 33,000 automobile accidents that happened in Maryland last year showed that the stubborn refusal of one driver to grant the right of way to another was a leading cause.

The chief cause in the bloodiest kind of highway smashups, those which resulted in deaths, was fast driving.

The analysis, prepared by the statistics division of the Maryland State Police, also showed that about half of the drivers involved in all accidents were veterans with 11 years or more of experience.

The report listed 32,659 accidents involving 57,743 drivers. It tallied 529 highway deaths for a 3 per cent reduction over the 195 toll and listed 14,415 persons injured as against a lesser figure, 13,195, for 1951.

Veteran drivers were involved more frequently in fatal accidents than any other class of driver. Of a total of 664 involved in 483 fatal accidents, 264 had 11 or more years of experience, and only four were learners.

The charge against no less than 4,770 of all drivers involved in accidents was failure to yield the right of way.

Fast driving was the second leading violation, listed against 3,905 drivers, 1,760 of which were under the influence of alcohol.

Failure to yield the right of way was listed in only 30 of the 483 fatal accidents, however, and fast driving led the death column, listed 157 times or in about 30 per cent of all such cases.

Some infraction of the law was committed by 34,028 of all drivers involved and 4,601 had been drinking.

The pattern for last year indicated a marked decrease over the number of fatal accidents in the counties in 1951, but a severe increase in Baltimore City. Of all of the fatal accidents in Maryland last year, pedestrians were involved in 187 of them.

Most of the accidents occured in daylight when vision is at its best but traffic at its heaviest. Of the total of 32,659 accidents, 17,750 of them happened during daylight.

Saturday was the worst day for drivers, and Sunday was second worst. On Saturdays, there were 995 on Sundays.

The most dangerous hours to drive during 1952 were 5:00 to 5:59 p.m.—2,556 accidents; 4:00 to 4:59 p.m.—2,497 accidents, and 6:00 to 6:59 p.m.—2,024 accidents.

In the counties last year, 414 persons were killed as compared with 458 in 1951. The opposite trend was in evidence in Baltimore City where only 89 died in 1951, and 115 were killed last year.

Against the state-wide reduction of 3 per cent in deaths there was an increase in the number of accidents, the number of those injured and total property damage.

Firemen Quell Blaze

City firemen thread a hose through an upstairs window at the rear of the United Television Company store, 54 Bedford Street, while bringing a blaze under control yesterday afternoon. The fire, which was discovered after firemen were called to put out a small fire in a trash pile two doors away, damaged the hallway, but did not harm the store. Albert Mason, manager of the TV firm, said he called firemen when he saw a small trash pile afire in the rear of a nearby building. When Bernard T. Coulehan of Potomac Park went to watch the fire he noticed the blaze inside the hallway and told firemen. Part of a large crowd of spectators who gathered at the scene helped Mason get his television sets outside before they could be damaged by smoke and water. Central and West Side firemen said the blaze started when a pile of old wallpaper and cardboard cartons in the hallway ignited, but the cause was not determined.

Perfection Co. Files Petition Against Union

Charges ILGWU Violated Injunction

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 1 (AP)—The Perfection Garment Co. filed a petition in Circuit Court today asking that Murray Markoff, organizer for the International Ladies Garment Workers, be charged with violating an injunction prohibiting mass picketing at the company's struck plant here.

The plants were closed today, traditionally an "apple blossom" holiday for the annual festival at nearby Winchester, Va. The plants normally are closed tomorrow and Sunday.

Stop Mass Picketing

Harry H. Byrer, counsel for the company, filed the petition with Judge Decatur H. Rodgers who issued an injunction earlier this week prohibiting mass picketing and blocking of the highway.

About 25 workers were arrested in scuffles that broke out last week when the strike started.

Judge Rodgers set hearing for next Monday at 10 a. m.

Meanwhile, Steve Schlossberg, union representative from Baltimore, said $7,000 in strike benefits would be paid out to pickets tonight.

Keyser Plant Peaceful

The union has said about 80 per cent of the 400 workers here and 100 in Ranson are striking. A company spokesman contends 35 per cent have returned to work.

Outside of a minor rumpus occuring early in the week in which the husband of one of the workers was fined for disturbing the peace, everything was reported peaceful.

All but eight of the 100 women employes of the Keyser plant have been reporting daily for work since the strike was called.

Weather

Yesterday was the warmest day this year according to the official measurement at Constitution Park weather station. Temperature climbed to 81 degrees as pedestrians shed top coats in the afternoon sunny weather. Low dropped to only 55 yesterday morning, and at 8 p. m. mercury leveled at 73 degrees. Humidity at 6 o'clock last night was a dry 30 per cent. The Weather Bureau predicts partly cloudy, warm and windy today with scattered afternoon thundershowers followed by cooler tonight.

Local Land Owner Begins Preparations For Parkway

Already one local property owner has started clearing his land along the C&O Canal where the Federal Park Service will build a Parkway approved by the Maryland Legislature.

Sidney D. Phillips, 80, of 7 West Second Street, has been contracted to clear close to 30 acres of land near the old canal bridge opposite the entrance to Wiley Ford, W. Va.

Phillips said he has eight men clearing brush and weeds from the site which was once the old fair grounds property owned by the Humbird family over 50 years ago.

He added the land was once a beautiful park enjoyed by many residents especially those of South Cumberland. Phillips declined to name the owner of the land, but said the lots would be used or sold in advantage for the C&O Parkway.

Phillips, who has cleared, owned and sold much land in Cumberland, pointed out the site near the canal could be made into a tourist park, recreational area or used for any number of businesses such as gasoline service stations, restaurants or motels.

The local man said the once scenic park years ago was abandoned and vegetation was left to grow wild.

Man Wanted For 2 Years Jailed

Mineral County (W. Va.) authorities yesterday announced the arrest of a man who they said has been wanted in Tennessee for two years.

Bernard O'Dell, Reeses Mills, was arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Earl Kemp at Minnich's Flower Shop and Electrical Service Store, where he had been working.

Sheriff Kemp said O'Dell has been wanted since 1951 on a charge of bringing a pickup truck from Tennessee to West Virginia without completing payments on it.

West Virginia State Police said they had been asked to look for O'Dell in the Ridgeville area two years ago, but had been unable to locate him there. Sheriff Kemp said O'Dell had been working at the Keyser store for nearly a month.

O'Dell is being held in Mineral County jail pending action of Tennessee authorities.

Circus Is Coming To Town, King Brothers Here May 11

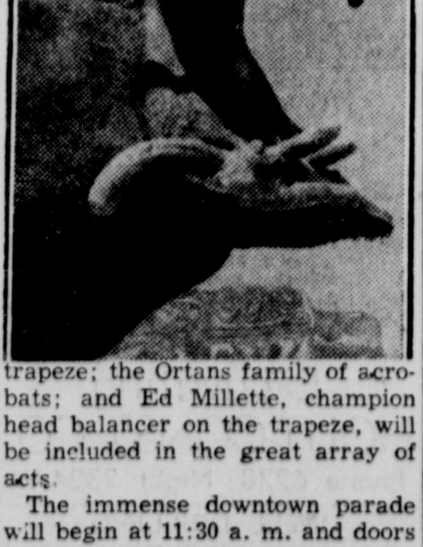
The circus is coming to town!

Monday, May 11, will be the big day for kiddies and mom and dad as the elephants, lions, tigers, clowns, bareback riders, trapeze artists and cowboys march down Baltimore and Mechanic Streets to Community Ball Park for the big event—two shows at 2 and 8 p. m.

The King Brothers and Cristiani Circus will arrive in Cumberland Sunday night and unload their huge carloads of equipment and the big tent will rise like magic in time for the spectacular and colorful performances under the Big Top.

The circus is fresh from a triumphant spring engagement in the East. Traveling with this huge combined show are 600 people, a herd of elephants, 250 menagerie animals and a blood-sweeting hippopotamus.

The big tent will seat 5,000 spectators and six rings and stages and the hippodrome track will be used for the tremendously big event.



Lucio Cristiani, internationally famous riding comedian; the great Zacchinni, shot 220 feet from the mouth of a cannon; the Jordan troupe, champions of the flying trapeze; the Ortans family of acrobats; and Ed Millette, champion head balancer on the trapeze, will be included in the great array of acts.

The immense downtown parade will begin at 11:30 a. m. and doors to the grounds will be opened at 1 and 7 p. m. for the two performances.

Many Activities Are Planned By Rec Department

Negro Teen-Age Club Will Open

The City Recreation Department staff is facing a busy month, according to a report by Robert E. Pence, city recreation director.

The month will mark the beginning of three activities, the High School Softball League, the Men's Recreation Softball League and the Negro Teen-Age Rec Club.

Tryouts for the Little League League will also get underway during May.

Work will include preparing the Constitution Park Pool for opening, hauling heavy playground equipment to playgrounds and preparing fields for softball.

Pence will also have to interview applicants for summer jobs, including play directors, leaders and workers to operate swimming pools at Constitution Park and Pine Avenue Playground.

The department's financial report, which showed expenditures of $1,129.46 for April, was approved by the Recreation Board this week.

From a budget of $40,000, the department had a balance of $13,679.33 on April 30.

Anticipated expenses this month will be slightly higher than in April. Pence's estimates of $2,203 during May includes salaries of director, secretary and pool maintenance, $1,000; leadership for art class $25; umpires for Recreation Softball League games, $28; repair of playground equipment, $100; work needed to put baseball fields into playing conditions, $1,000, and distribution of playground equipment to grounds, $50.

City Planning Ordinance For RR Crossings

Would Be Divided Into Three Classes

Copies of data to be included in a proposed crossing ordinance for the City of Cumberland have been distributed to the Mayor and City Council.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said city officials will be asked to comment on the proposals before any attempt is made to draft the final form.

Officials indicated no action is planned on the ordinance for at least 10 days to two weeks.

In general, the ordinance divides crossings within the city into three classes.

Subsection (a) states that railroads whose main line tracks cross Harrison, Union, Baltimore, Frederick and Bedford Street are required to provide at all hours a competent watchman to warn those using the crossing of the approach of trains and engines.

Subsection (b) states that railroads whose main lines cross Knox, Valley, Pear and Franklin Streets are required to provide at all times a competent watchman or automatic crossing gates which shall be coordinated, at the railroad's expense, with any traffic system installed by the city on Henderson Avenue.

Subsection (c) says that at other crossings, railroads must either keep a watchman on duty or install automatic crossing gates, automatic flashing signals, or have a trainman precede trains to warn users of the approach of railroad trains or engines.

Under subsection (d), the requirements for crossing watchman protection on crossings named in subsection (a) may, by agreement between the Mayor and Council and the railroad, be eliminated upon the substitution of automatic crossing gates, automatic flashing signals or another type of approved crossing protection.

The final section (e) provides fines of $10 daily for railroads which fail to comply with the ordinance, and a fine of not more than $10 for persons failing to obey watchmen or warning devices.

Will Provide Data

Mayor Eves said yesterday he had conferred with William E. Lyons, Pattersons Creek, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, concerning the proposal.

The mayor said he assured Lyons that the city will provide the Brotherhood's committee with all the facts and figures on the proposal before any action is being taken by the city.

The Brotherhood is reported to be protesting the substitution of automatic crossing gates at Knox, Valley, Pear and Franklin Streets since it would displace 16 watchmen.

At a conference with the Mayor and Council on April 20, B. and O. officials gave virtual assurance the men had sufficient seniority to hold their jobs by bumping.

Cite Traffic Counts

B & O officials said traffic over the four westerly crossings is only about half that on Baltimore, Frederick and Bedford Streets since St. Louis traffic is routed over the viaduct.

According to a rough count by the B. and O., about 5,000 pedestrians and 10,000 vehicles cross the Baltimore Street crossing each day.

Other counts, not taken on the same day, showed 1,903 vehicles and 82 trains at the Frederick Street crossing and 2,614 vehicles and 121 trains at Bedford Street.

Counts made at Knox Street showed 1,142 vehicles and 41 trains; Valley, 2,194 vehicles and 42 trains; Pear, 541 vehicles and 42 trains and Franklin, 1,404 vehicles and 41 trains.

The last four crossings, which the railroad wants to equip with automatic crossing gate signal systems, are used only by Pittsburgh Division trains.

Pa. Police Drop Charges Against Cumberland Man

Pennsylvania authorities have withdrawn charges against Raymond H. Bittner, 42, of 212 Greene Street, who was accused of receiving stolen goods in connection with a jewelry store robbery last year.

Local authorities yesterday received a letter from Justice of the Peace Stephen McGanka, of Conemaugh, Pa. (Cambria County) informing them Prosecutor John F. Carrol had dropped the charge.

Bittner, a local confectionery operator, was picked up April 24 after McGanka issued a warrant in Conemaugh. He was arrested by Lt. James E. Van on a charge of being "a fugitive from justice."

The local businessman was released the following Monday under $2,500 bond in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Following his arrest Bittner asked for counsel. Two law officers from Pennsylvania came here to question him and returned without the prisoner.

Two other men apprehended in the robbery case are serving prison terms. Authorities said the pair admitted giving their loot to another man named "McLaughlin" who turned it over to a third man. Bittner's profit in the case was reported to have been about $1,000, police said.

Couple Injured In Auto Crash

A retired Army colonel and his wife were hospitalized here yesterday after their car skidded out of control and struck an embankment on Town Hill.

State Police said Levin H. Arnett and his wife, Mrs. Willie Mae Arnett, of 5931 Atlantic Boulevard, Jacksonville, Fla., were admitted to Sacred Heart hospital, but were not in serious condition.

Trooper James F. Lewis said Mrs. Arnett was driving down the west slope of Town Hill 11 miles east of Flintstone at about 11:45 a. m. when her car skidded out of control on the west pavement.

The vehicle careened across the road, struck an embankment and threw Arnett from the car. It hit the bank several more times before coming to rest against a guard rail.

Whitworth Gets Added Backing On Arrest Plan

Del. Dempsey Favors Probe Into Practice

BALTIMORE (AP)—More backing came yesterday for the proposal to have the Legislative Council study police practices in holding prisoners for questioning.

Del. Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd) said he supports the request of Del. Whitworth Jr. (R-Allegany) for the council to look into the matter.

No Justification

He said he could see no justification for holding a man for questioning for nearly a week, and without benefit of counsel.

Whitworth's call for a probe came when Allegany County authorities held a man six days without charge. He was questioned in connection with the unsolved murder of Mrs. Odessa Frances Meister, Cumberland housewife and textile worker. She was last seen on Dec. 20 and authorities found her bludgeoned body nearly a month later on a wooded slope in East Cumberland.

The man was finally released after his lawyer threatened to go to court for a habeas corpus action.

Whitworth attacked what he called "gestapo methods" used by the Allegany County state's attorney's office.

Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th), council president, has not indicated what action the research group may take on Whitworth's request.

Assailed Methods

In a letter to the Legislative Council, written at the suggestion of former Judge Joseph Sherbow of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City and Senator Della, Whitworth assailed the Gestapo-like methods used by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher's forces in their investigation of Mrs. Meister's murder.

"It is not enough to say," Whitworth stated in his letter, "that such people are involved in serious crimes or at least suspected of them, and it is not enough to say that they are unimportant people.

"What is important to me as a private citizen of Allegany County is the fact that such methods are unAmerican and completely foreign to our whole system of judicial administration. I realize the importance and necessity of apprehending criminals, but for the protection of all the people against a police state, our Constitution provided for the orderly democratic procedure in apprehending criminals in order to protect the innocent.

"It will not be the answer to say: Take out a writ of habeas corpus; because all too frequently such persons kept in such illegal custody and restraint are without friends, usually without money and have no knowledge of their rights.

"In order to stamp out such unAmerican practices it is necessary in my judgment, to make such action a crime and to punish those who participate in such doings in the future."

Firemen Quell Blaze

City firemen thread a hose through an upstairs window at the rear of the United Television Company store, 54 Bedford Street, while bringing a blaze under control yesterday afternoon. The fire, which was discovered after firemen were called to put out a small fire in a trash pile two doors away, damaged the hallway, but did not harm the store. Albert Mason, manager of the TV firm, said he called firemen when he saw a small trash pile afire in the rear of a nearby building. When Bernard T. Coulehan of Potomac Park went to watch the fire he noticed the blaze inside the hallway and told firemen. Part of a large crowd of spectators who gathered at the scene helped Mason get his television sets outside before they could be damaged by smoke and water. Central and West Side firemen said the blaze started when a pile of old wallpaper and cardboard cartons in the hallway ignited, but the cause was not determined.

Perfection Co. Files Petition Against Union

Charges ILGWU Violated Injunction

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 1 (AP)—The Perfection Garment Co. filed a petition in Circuit Court today asking that Murray Markoff, organizer for the International Ladies Garment Workers, be charged with violating an injunction prohibiting mass picketing at the company's struck plant here.

Otherwise, things were quiet at the local plant and one in Ranson, W. Va., where unionists struck April 24.

The plants were closed today, traditionally an "apple blossom" holiday for the annual festival at nearby Winchester, Va. The plants normally are closed tomorrow and Sunday.

Stop Mass Picketing

Harry H. Byrer, counsel for the company, filed the petition with Judge Decatur H. Rodgers who issued an injunction earlier this week prohibiting mass picketing and blocking of the highway.

About 25 workers were arrested in scuffles that broke out last week when the strike started.

Judge Rodgers set hearing for next Monday at 10 a. m.

Meanwhile, Steve Schlossberg, union representative from Baltimore, said $7,000 in strike benefits would be paid out to pickets tonight.

Keyser Plant Peaceful

The union has said about 80 per cent of the 400 workers here and 100 in Ranson are striking. A company spokesman contends 35 per cent have returned to work.

At the Keyser plant of Perfection Company, where workers are not organized, union pickets remained posted around the factory.

Outside of a minor rumpus occuring early in the week in which the husband of one of the workers was fined for disturbing the peace, everything was reported peaceful.

All but eight of the 100 women employes of the Keyser plant have been reporting daily for work since the strike was called.

Local Land Owner Begins Preparations For Parkway

Already one local property owner has started clearing his land along the C&O Canal where the Federal Park Service will build a Parkway approved by the Maryland Legislature.

Sidney D. Phillips, 80, of 7 West Second Street, has been contracted to clear close to 30 acres of land near the old canal bridge opposite the entrance to Wiley Ford, W. Va.

Phillips said he has eight men clearing brush and weeds from the site which was once the old fair grounds property owned by the Humbird family over 50 years ago.

He added the land was once a beautiful park enjoyed by many residents especially those of South Cumberland. Phillips declined to name the owner of the land, but said the lots would be used or sold in advantage for the C&O Parkway.

Phillips, who has cleared, owned and sold much land in Cumberland, pointed out the site near the canal could be made into a tourist park, recreational area or used for any number of businesses such as gasoline service stations, restaurants or motels.

The local man said the once scenic park years ago was abandoned and vegetation was left to grow wild.

Man Wanted For 2 Years Jailed

Mineral County (W. Va.) authorities yesterday announced the arrest of a man who they said has been wanted in Tennessee for two years.

Bernard O'Dell, Reeses Mills, was arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Earl Kemp at Minnich's Flower Shop and Electrical Service Store, where he had been working.

Sheriff Kemp said O'Dell has been wanted since 1951 on a charge of bringing a pickup truck from Tennessee to West Virginia without completing payments on it.

West Virginia State Police said they had been asked to look for O'Dell in the Ridgeville area two years ago, but had been unable to locate him there. Sheriff Kemp said O'Dell had been working at the Keyser store for nearly a month.

O'Dell is being held in Mineral County jail pending action of Tennessee authorities.

Although midnight Thursday was the deadline for operation of trucks without new Maryland license plates, Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat at the Court House reported that he sold over 70 more plates to operators of privately-owned trucks yesterday.

Since April 1 he has disposed of about 1,550 compared with about 1,300 in the same period a year ago. Meanwhile he still is selling six or eight automobile license plates a day to owners of new cars and others who did not make their purchase before March 31.

Speed, Stubbornness Cause Many Accidents

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—A state police analysis of the nearly 33,000 automobile accidents that happened in Maryland last year showed that the stubborn refusal of one driver to grant the right of way to another was a leading cause.

The chief cause in the bloodiest kind of highway smashups, those which resulted in deaths, was fast driving.

The analysis, prepared by the statistics division of the Maryland State Police, also showed that about half of the drivers involved in all accidents were veterans with 11 years or more of experience.

The report listed 32,659 accidents involving 57,743 drivers. It tallied 529 highway deaths for a 3 per cent reduction over the 195 toll and listed 14,415 persons injured as against a lesser figure, 13,195, for 1951.

Veteran drivers were involved more frequently in fatal accidents than any other class of driver. Of a total of 664 involved in 483 fatal accidents, 264 had 11 or more years of experience, and only four were learners.

The charge against no less than 4,770 of all drivers involved in accidents was failure to yield the right of way.

Fast driving was the second leading violation, listed against 3,905 drivers, 1,760 of which were under the influence of alcohol.

Failure to yield the right of way was listed in only 30 of the 483 fatal accidents, however, and fast driving led the death column, listed 157 times or in about 30 percent of all such cases.

Some infraction of the law was committed by 34,028 of all drivers involved and 4,601 had been drinking.

The pattern for last year indicated a marked decrease over the number of fatal accidents in the counties in 1951, but a severe increase in Baltimore City. Of all of the fatal accidents in Maryland last year, pedestrians were involved in 187 of them.

Most of the accidents occured in daylight when vision is at its best but traffic at its heaviest. Of the total of 32,659 accidents, 17,750 of them happened during daylight.

Saturday was the worst day for drivers, and Sunday was second worst. On Saturdays, there were 995 on Sundays.

The most dangerous hours to drive during 1952 were 5:00 to 5:59 p.m.—2,556 accidents; 4:00 to 4:59 p.m.—2,497 accidents, and 6:00 to 6:59 p.m.—2,024 accidents.

In the counties last year, 414 persons were killed as compared with 458 in 1951. The opposite trend was in evidence in Baltimore City where only 89 died in 1951, and 115 were killed last year.

Against the state-wide reduction of 3 per cent in deaths there was an increase in the number of accidents, the number of those injured and total property damage.

Weather

Yesterday was the warmest day this year according to the official measurement at Constitution Park weather station. Temperature climbed to 81 degrees as pedestrians shed top coats in the afternoon sunny weather. Low dropped to only 55 yesterday morning, and at 8 p. m. mercury leveled at 73 degrees.
